H.M.C.S. Comox Launched at V.M.D.

Second ship launched by V.M.D. in current naval program, H.M.C.S. Comox was christened by Mrs. C. L. Hinchcliffe. With her is Harold Husband, V.M.D. president.

Within minutes after new 'sweeper Comox had slipped into the sea, V.M.D. workmen were busy laying keel for second such vessel to be built by yard. Capt. Hinchcliffe officially declared keel laid. Meanwhile completion of Comox will be hurried at nearby dock.—(Colonist photos by Bud Kinsman.)

Party Tells Premier Drop Co-Insurance

Vote of Liberals Results In Johnson Platform Defeat

BY T. A. MYERS
(Colonist Staff Reporter)

VANCOUVER, April 24—The vote-conscious Liberal Party today told its leader exactly what he could do with co-insurance—get rid of it.

Co-insurance was the subject of a torrid six-hour debate involving more than 50 speakers during morning, afternoon and evening sessions of the final day of the party's pre-election convention here.

The grass-roots revolt against Premier Byron Johnson's co-insurance policy ended in a defeat for the premier.

In the end the rank-and-file party members tore two co-insurance planks out of the premier's election platform and substituted one of their own.

The 700-odd delegates voted to throw out two clauses pledging the government to pay co-insurance charges for maternity cases and borderline low-income cases.

Instead, they asked that co-insurance be wiped out entirely at the fall session of the legislature.

When the substitute clause was finally approved, the premier warned the party that if co-insurance goes, new taxes will have to be levied.

The debate flared up almost before the delegates had settled comfortably into their chairs after the opening of the morning session.

PREMIER HITS BACK

Premier Johnson hit back: "You know it's a very simple thing to stand up and say 'abolish' but you just can't maintain hospital insurance without co-insurance."

He accepted the responsibility for introducing hospital insurance in B.C. and when the government decided a year ago to bring in co-insurance to save the floundering insurance scheme, "I just couldn't see any way out of it."

He didn't deny that co-insurance was unpopular with most British Columbians.

"I know it would be very popular for me to stand up here and speak the way you men have spoken from the floor," he said, "but I prefer, as a Liberal, to stand by our convictions that hospital insurance should be maintained.

"I have no intention of imposing my will on this convention," he went on. "I recognize that the convention is supreme. But if I were wishy-washy enough to come here and say, 'yes, it's a good idea to remove it because there's a political advantage to be gained, I wouldn't expect you as Liberals to support me."

Then his tone changed and he pleaded with the delegates.

GIVE IT CHANCE

"Leave the Hospital Insurance Service alone, for another year. Give it a chance to work itself out so the people can continue to enjoy its wonderful benefits."

So far the premier had been fighting a lone fight. Then Victoria's Mrs. Nancy Hodges came to his side.

"There comes a time when you have to take a stand that you can't expect everything for nothing," she said. For British Columbians, that time has come.

After the lunch break the premier found more support.

One delegate said "We saw a brave man criticized for his judgment, his ability and his humanity, and accept it with bravery and dignity . . . the Boss is only trying to protect us from ourselves."

Countless charges and counter-charges later, the convention got lost in a maze of amendments to motions and amendments to amendments. It was led out of the maze by the premier itself.

Mr. Johnson bluntly told the party that any decision it made about co-insurance would not be binding on him, at least until after the election. "I would not and could not rescind (the cabinet order imposing co-insurance) before the election date," he said. "You can only make a recommendation to the incoming government . . ."

THREE TO ONE

He suggested that the convention vote on the resolution that "the" Liberal party recommends to the next session of the legislature that co-insurance be removed."

This didn't mean, he shouted amid thunderous applause, that he agreed with the abolition of co-insurance; he was simply giving the delegates something to vote on.

The resolution passed by a three-to-one majority on a standing vote.

It wasn't until the evening session that the convention made it plain that abolition was to become part of the party's official platform.

Oak Bay's George Gregory led a drive that made the abolition clause a solid campaign pledge, instead of merely a resolution for the "guidance" of party leaders.

Liberals See Apparition

VANCOUVER, April 24 (CP).—The Liberal-crowded convention floor of Hotel Vancouver had a strange visitor yesterday—but he didn't stay long.

Herbert Anscomb, provincial Progressive Conservative leader, startled delegates by marching down the long hall as Premier Byron Johnson read the Liberal manifesto.

Mr. Anscomb, looking neither to right nor left, walked the gantlet of Liberals to attend a business meeting at the end of the hall. When it was over he had to come out the same way—the back elevator was not working.

New Vessel for Navy Completed in City

The Royal Canadian Navy's emergency defense building program took another important step forward late yesterday afternoon when the minesweeper H.M.C.S. Comox slid down the ways at the Bay Street plant of Victoria Machinery Depot.

The first of three such warships to be built at local shipyards for the navy, Comox was christened by Mrs. Hinchcliffe, wife of Capt. (E) C. L. Hinchcliffe, principal naval overseer for construction on the Pacific Coast.

Comox had no sooner entered the water than V.M.D. workmen hastily laid the prefabricated keel of the second 'sweeper to be built by the big shipyard for Her Majesty's navy. The second ship, so far, is known only as "Hull 54." Yarrows Ltd. will build the third one.

Rear Admiral Wallace B. Creery, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, headed a large group of senior R.C.N. officers who witnessed the impressive launching. And an international flavor was added through the presence of Rear Admiral A. E. Smith, U.S.N., commandant of the United States Navy's 13th Naval District at Seattle.

SECOND VESSEL

H.M.C.S. Comox was the second naval vessel to be launched by V.M.D. in the current naval shipbuilding program. Several months ago, at its Outer Wharf plant, a large gate vessel slid into the water.

V.M.D. will also build a destroyer-escort for the R.C.N.

Harold Husband, V.M.D. president, described the minesweepers as "almost an all-Canadian product." Aluminum has played a major role in construction of the 140-foot Comox. She is sheathed with African mahogany.

In Comox there are some 200,000 aluminium rivets, all driven "cold." She is one of 14 such minesweepers to be built in Canadian yards for the R.C.N., and the first of her kind launched on the west coast of Canada.

V.M.D. PROUD

"V.M.D. is proud that it has been chosen to assist the Royal Canadian Navy in its expansion program," Mr. Husband stated. He paid tribute to those who had worked on the vessel.

Adm. Creery also had warm praise for V.M.D.

Adm. Smith of the U.S.N. was heard to remark on the fine lines and radically new design of the Canadian minesweeper. Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., was among those attending the ceremony.

Chaplains J. H. Laporte and B. A. Peglar conducted the launching services.

New Ship Has Name Of Other

The new H.M.C.S. Comox, minesweeper launched yesterday afternoon at Victoria Machinery Depot, is the second ship to bear that name in the Royal Canadian Navy.

The first was a 162-foot, coal-burning minesweeping trawler, built for the navy by Burrard Drydock & Shipbuilding Co. Ltd. of North Vancouver. That was in 1938.

One of four of her class built prior to the last war, the original Comox served throughout the war on both coasts. She was sold to Marine Industries Ltd., Sorel, Que., in March of 1945.

The bell from the first Comox was presented to the village of Comox, Vancouver Island, late in 1946.

Public Should Be Told Debt Plans, Says M.P.

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP)—The lone woman member of the Commons—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (P.C.-Hamilton West)—today told the federal government that if it plans to use taxes to reduce the national debt it should inform the Canadian people.

Speaking during continued debate on the 1952-53 budget, the 47-year-old chartered accountant said $2,344,000,000 has been knocked off the debt in the last five years.

The Canadian people and parliament were not consulted as to "whether or not these debt reductions should be made at this time."

People in the low-income groups are in a sad plight, she said. They are gradually losing their savings and cashing their insurance policies because of the heavy burden of taxation.

"The national debt reductions were being paid for by the taxpayer "at the risk of his own savings."

She added:

"If the minister (Finance Minister D. C. Abbott) believes the national debt should be reduced, let him say so and let him put into the budget an amount for this purpose, not call it public buildings which cannot be built, and clothing for the forces which cannot be used, and equipment which is not required."

Mr. Abbott should not put into the budget various items which he could not spend and then come along and say: "Sorry, we didn't buy these things—we paid your debts."

Mrs. Fairclough also supported demands for removal of the 4-per-cent floor on the amount a person can deduct from income tax in medical expenses.

Rioters Free Guards, End Five-Day Mutiny

JACKSON, Mich., April 24 (AP)—Rioters at Southern Michigan Prison ended their five-day mutiny today and released eight hostage guards unharmed.

Armed prison guards kept 50 yards or so away from cell block

"CRAZY JACK" HYATT

15 as riot leader Earl E. Ward threw open the door. Three convicts stepped out and frisked each rioter as he left.

Then those inside discarded their knives, baseball bats, clubs and other crude weapons and began backing out, one by one.

The convicts appeared in good shape. They lined up outside the prison mess hall where they were to receive a steak dinner.

All eight of the guards said they were locked in separate cells in the barricaded cell block. They appeared on the verge of collapse, but none said he was harmed.

George A. Brown, one of the guards, said "Crazy Jack" Hyatt of Leamington, Ont., was their immediate boss, but Ward was the unquestioned leader of the mutineers.

The riot cost the life of one prisoner and injuries to 11 others.

The man who started it all was "Crazy Jack" Hyatt, a thrice-convicted robber and one of Michigan's toughest convicts, who two years ago attempted at knife-point to use Governor G. Mennen Williams as an escape shield.

Here is the guard's story:

"Of the hundreds of doors in this place, they opened the wrong man's door.

"Hyatt called a guard to his door and asked to get out to go down the hall to exchange some papers.

"This guard was a young inexperienced fellow. He opened the door. Hyatt stepped out, wheeled, grabbed the guard, threw him into the cell, swung the door shut and there was the key in the door. Jack turned it and the do was on.

"He could open the doors of two tiers of cells with the guard's keys. Somebody got a note outside. It said a guard had gone up to No. 4 tier and hadn't come down and this had better be investigated.

"When the second man stepped in, Hyatt and his now-freed numerous pals got the keys to another two of the five tiers and let out the others.

"Then they began kidnapping guards outside."

Secret Talks End; U.N. Wants Time

MUNSAN, Korea, April 25 (Friday) (AP).—Communist negotiators today called off secret talks at Panmunjom on prisoner exchange in a Korean armistice. A U.N. spokesman immediately proposed that the prisoner talks be recessed indefinitely.

Col. George W. Hickman, U.N. staff officer, said the U.N. Command wants to resurvey its stand in the light of this new development.

The Reds said they wanted to call off the closed door talks, a U.N. spokesman reported, because the Allies had used them "to deceive the world on this central question of the negotiations and to carry out their aim of forcibly retaining captured personnel."

Allied officers said the Communists objected to the fact that 40 per cent of the Allied-held prisoners did not want to return to Communist territory. The U.N. holds 132,000 Reds.

The issue of voluntary repatriation of prisoners has been the chief stumbling block.

Col. Hickman said he proposed the talks be recessed indefinitely until the U.N. Command was ready to take them up again. Col. Hickman's move came after the Communist statement asking for the end of secret sessions.

The Red's action apparently did not preclude the possibility that open talks would again be resumed.

However, no date was set for resumption of the prisoners talks.

Civil Probe Ordered

TORONTO, April 24 (CP)—An inquest was ordered today into the poison death a week ago of a Manitoba airwoman who authorities say may have been given strychnine in mistake for medicine.

She was L.A.W. Lottie Macura, 27, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Macura of Alonsa, Man., who had been stationed at the R.C.A.F.'s No. 1 supply depot.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, Ontario's chief coroner, said the girl visited a nurse at the supply depot April 17 and complained of feeling ill. He said that, after being treated by the nurse, she became worse suddenly and was taken to Sunnybrook Veterans' Hospital.

She died three and a half hours later, after several convulsions.

"The girl died of strychnine poisoning and she certainly didn't administer it herself," said Dr. Lawson.

An air force official said an inquiry was held, and "as far as we understand, she died from natural causes."

Liberal Action Held Inadequate

VANCOUVER, April 25 (BUP).—Roman Catholic spokesmen said today they were dissatisfied because a two-day provincial Liberal convention had skirted the separate schools issue.

The British Columbia Catholic Education Association planned a special executive meeting tonight to study a watered-down resolution side-stepping the schools issue passed in the closing hours of the convention Thursday.

Malan Says U.N. Policy Anti-White

CAPETOWN, South Africa, April 24 (Reuters).—Prime Minister Daniel Malan bitterly attacked the United Nations today for showing a "disproportion of interest" in Southwest Africa, the former German territory now ruled by the South African government.

In a parliamentary address, Malan charged that the Soviet Union and the world's non-white states want to make Southwest Africa "a jumping off place" against this country.

He said non-white countries form a majority in the United Nations and have but one aim: "To destroy all color bars and color discrimination throughout the world."

Meanwhile Group Capt. A. G. (Sailor) Malan, leader of the Torch Commando, appealed to the South African Government to submit to an election "to obtain the people's mandate for the steps they propose to take in enforcing their policy of white domination."

One Hurt In Mishap

A 70-year-old woman was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital last night after an accident at Cook and Rockland.

Mrs. Florence McKenty, 1016 Linden, suffered a leg fracture after she and a companion, Mr. D. Small, 1024 Linden, had been in collision with a car driven by Robert Shaw, 1132 Chapman. The injured woman was reported in good condition.

Carpenters' Requests Get Board Rejection

A majority conciliation board award, in which no unconditional wage increases are recommended, was given 3,000 upper Vancouver Island and lower Mainland carpenters yesterday.

The A.F.L.-T.L.C. carpenters, employed by 68 contractors, will meet in Vancouver to discuss the award.

The report, signed by board chairman W. T. Moodie and employers' representative R. C. Pybus, rejected all requests made by the carpenters.

A spokesman said a strike vote application by lower Mainland and Vancouver Island carpenters from Nanaimo north may be made "within the next two weeks."

The carpenters asked a 30-cent-an-hour wage increase from their basic $2 an hour, and Mr. Moodie and Mr. Pybus recommended a one-cent-an-hour pay increase for each 1.3 rise in the cost-of-living index above the 189.1 level last March.

Greater Victoria carpenters are not affected by the award, as their conciliation board is expected to file its report next week.

Until Budget Viewed

Nursing Home Question Delayed Again

Ald. Mrs. Margaret Christie's year-long fight for an addition to the Victoria Nursing Home was pushed aside for another few days at yesterday's city council meeting.

Her motion that $150,000 of land sale funds be set aside for the city's share in the $450,000 building was defeated by an amendment to table the matter until council considers the budget next week.

The nursing home question touched off an hour-long debate covering a number of stated legal and financial impediments to the building.

To be clarified, City Solicitor Arthur Patton stated, was the question of classifying the addition. He said the federal government would grant one-third share of $150,000 only if the building was a hospital, not a nursing home.

City Comptroller Dennis Young explained to the council that of the $207,783 in the land sale fund, $127,283 had already been committed for repairs to the arena and other capital expenditures.

He said that if $150,000 was allocated for the nursing home, unless about $68,000 of capital work was cut from the budget, there would need to be an even further increase in the mill rate.

Ald. Waldo Skillings suggested that the remaining $82,500 in the land sale fund be earmarked this year for the nursing home and the balance taken from next year's land sale monies.

"We can have our cake and eat it, too—if we take it in two bites," he said.

Mayor Claude L. Harrison supported Ald. Christie throughout the discussion.

"We've just got to take care of our old people somehow," he said.

Schools Payment Proposed

By Colonist Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER, April 24.—The provincial government tonight was asked to consider a plan to take over 80 per cent of the total costs of education in B.C. Municipalities would pay the remaining 20 per cent.

The request came from the B.C. Liberal Association shortly before it ended its two-day convention here.

The 80-20 split was recommended to the cabinet some time ago by the Union of B.C. Municipalities. Under the U.B.C.M. plan, the municipalities would relinquish all but 20 per cent of money from the provincial sales tax.

The party asked that the government drop its ban against taking people of 45 years or older into the civil service; called for a crackdown on hospital insurance premium evaders; endorsed the principle of equal pay for equal work; approved recommendations of a majority report on the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act; plumped for racial equality; condemned monopolies, and approved free enterprise.

Pipeline Bill Gets Approval

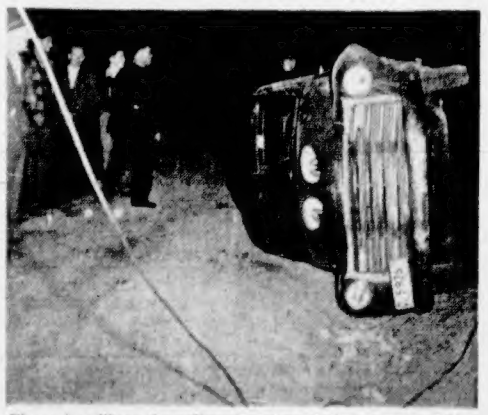

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP).—The Commons railway committee today approved a bill to incorporate Boundary Pipeline Corporation of Regina, which wants to build a line to carry gas from Alberta as far east as Winnipeg.

The measure—opposed by some members of the committee—now goes back to the Commons, where it may face further opposition during committee-of-the-whole study and third reading debate.

Before passing the bill, the committee added to it an amendment saying that its main line is to be in Canada.

However, the committee turned down an amendment that would have barred the company specifically from operating outside Canada.

Overturned Truck Glowers

Glowering like a brooding monster at the camera, this truck overturned last night causing serious facial cuts to one man and badly shaking up another. The driver, Gordon Ellis, 3003 Cedar Hill Road, was not injured when his truck went off the road and turned over after missing the corner at Glanford and Quadra about 8.30 last night. The passenger, Reginald Croft, 619 Fort, was taken to the Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering severe facial lacerations.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Science marches on. British scientists have found a way to squeeze most of the water out of beer. American scientists have found out just how many flies it would take to develop one horse power.

"Why find water around when there is a lot of it everywhere?" scientists asked themselves when faced with transporting beer overseas to the troops. They got a silly answer to a silly question.

Now they "hope they have found a way to ship to the ends of the earth all that's good in beer—the hops, the tang, the zip, the alcoholic kick and even the foam."

I suppose the troops will now carry a little kit of five beer tablets. Take a glass of water and drop in a tang tablet, a zip tablet, a hops tablet, an alcoholic kick tablet and a foam tablet. Mix well. Listen to it fizz.

If that chemical mulch turns out to be beer, I'll have a bath in it.

When the machine replaced the horse and the horse replaced the beefsteak, people took the insult without a murmur. They even accepted dehydrated food. But I tell you here and now that they will not accept dehydrated beer. This time science has gone too far. When beer is sold over the counters of drug stores in pill form, there will be riots in the street.

Men of distinction will be pictured in the act of swallowing a tablet. If they can do that and still look distinguished, they will be men indeed. I never saw a man yet who looked distinguished when he was swallowing a tablet.

What do you mean, you never saw a man who looked distinguished when he was swallowing a glass of beer? Well, you may be right.

Something will be lacking in the English pub when it is manned by a pharmacist instead of a proper landlord. Even our own dismal beer-cellars will lose a little of their zip when the waiters hustle around with trays of pills instead of glasses one-quarter full of beer and three-quarters full of foam.

Prankish characters will dump carload lots of beer tablets in streams and lakes. Did you ever live beside a lake of beer? I never did, and I don't want to.

* * *

And then there is that item about the flies. It seems that Frances V. McCann and Edward Boetticger of the department of zoology, University of Connecticut, ran some tests and came up with the information that it would take 414,333,333 flies all pulling together to generate one horsepower.

All those flies pulling together in harness must have been an awesome sight. Even that one-third of a fly did his bit. It must have been a tough job. The flies I have known have all been anxious to steer their own course, quite often into my soup. But the question that bothers me about the trained flies is this: where were they going and why? Even human beings, when they succeed in pulling together, usually don't know.

Next thing, they will train a Kamikaze squadron of those flies to plunge straight into my dehydrated beer. I don't want to hear any more about them.

* * *

The only heatening news from the world of science is that a mechanical brain in Philadelphia went haywire as the result of rolling over a bumpy floor, and paid out a $9,999 cheque to a man who had no pay coming to him; then turned out $2.47 pay cheques for a full week's work. It is good to hear about a mechanical brain with a nervous breakdown. If only we can succeed in giving a mechanical brain typhoid, we may be rid of the things for good and all.

Treatment Requires More Money, Space

By 1960, approximately 8,000 citizens of British Columbia will be in mental hospitals.

In the interim, possibly 18,000 will have been sufficiently mentally ill to require hospital care.

With the growth of British Columbia's population there is no escaping the fact that before 1960 this province will have to spend $80,000,000 on the care and treatment of mentally ill persons—in addition to the millions of dollars required for construction projects.

These cold-blooded statistics were presented to the Rotary Club yesterday by R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, whose office also directs the provincial mental health program.

Caring for the mentally ill is costly business, Mr. Pennington said. "Six cents of every provincial tax dollar is required for the treatment and care of our mentally ill neighbors. The cost to the people of Canada for treatment, to the mentally ill is not less than $60,000,000 annually."

He added: "Nearly one-quarter of the entire civil service of British Columbia is engaged in the treatment of British Columbia's mentally ill citizens, and their task is an around-the-clock administration of a community greater in population than a city the size of Nanaimo or Nelson."

"At any given moment, one person in every 200 of our population is in a hospital for the mentally ill."

Over the past two years, the speaker continued, 3,986 B.C. citizens have been admitted to mental hospitals.

"In that same period, there were 3,476 separations, of whom some 2,900 were discharged back to the community, cured or greatly improved, the balance being deaths."

To keep pace with increases in patient population, a 500-bed hospital is needed every two years, Mr. Pennington said. "British Columbia has not that kind of money yet, with the result that our available resources are taxed to the limit, and it is necessary to restrict the admission of young children and the elderly mentally ill patients until more bed accommodation becomes available."

There was, however, one bright note. "In 20 short years we have emerged from the Dark Ages in the approach to mental illness." It is only 300 years since the treatment of the mentally ill—who are still cruelly called lunatics in our statutes—was very simple. In those days they merely cut off the head of the disturbed mental patient, then burned the body to exorcize the devils that inhabited it.

Today mental illness is regarded similarly to various physical illnesses. It has been proved that early diagnosis and early treatment can, and usually does, result in cure. "If one can recognize the symptoms of the slipping grip on the realities of life soon enough, a chronic condition can be definitely prevented."

[illegible] was paid to Dr. R. G. Crease, head of B.C.'s mental health services for 30 years prior to his retirement in 1950. "His confirmed conviction that mental illness is a medical problem and is curable has had a profound effect upon the thinking of all those in the field of psychiatry on the North American continent."

GREAT DISCOVERY

X-rays were discovered by the German physicist Wilhelm Roentgen in 1895 and he received a Nobel prize in 1901.

Mental Health Means Getting Along

Mental health is important in everybody's everyday life, R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, told the Rotary Club yesterday.

"It just means the over-all way that people get along in their families, at school, on the job, at play, with their associates, in their communities.

"It deals with how you feel about yourself, how you feel about other people, how you are able to meet the demands of life.

There is no line that neatly divides the mentally healthy from the unhealthy.

"A person who feels comfortable about himself, who does not under-estimate or over-estimate his ability; who can accept his own shortcomings; who has self-respect; who derives satisfaction from the simple everyday pleasures; who is not bowled over by his emotions, fears, angers, love, jealousy, guilt or worries, is mentally healthy, as far as he is concerned.

"If he has personal relationships that are satisfying and lasting; if he can respect the many differences he finds in people; if he can feel that he is part of a group and can feel a sense of responsibility to his neighbors and fellow men; can consider the interests of others; can expect to like and trust others and take it for granted that others will like and trust him—he is a mentally healthy person in his approach to other people.

[illegible] responsibilities; meet his problems as they arise and do something about them; can plan ahead and not fear the future; can think for himself and make his own decisions; can welcome new experiences and new ideas; and can put his best effort into what he is doing and get satisfaction out of doing it, then he is mentally healthy in meeting the demands of life.

"Mentally healthy people are good friends, good workers, good parents and good citizens."

TOKYO, April 24 (AP).—Fire destroyed Kagoshima University and 24 homes today, the newspaper Asahi reported. Police estimated damage at $1,300,000. No casualties were reported. Kagoshima is on Kyushu Island in southern Japan.

C.C.F. Member Urges Economy

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP).—Ross Thatcher (C.C.F., Moose Jaw) suggested tonight in the Commons that federal government expenditure this year be reduced by $315,000,000, including a $225,000,000 cut in defense spending.

In a speech marked by interruptions including some in his own party, the 34-year-old hardware merchant said there must be a reduction in the $4,500,000,-[illegible] spending plans.

Mr. Thatcher suggested the health department could save $30,000,000 this year by not paying old-age pensions or family allowances to wealthy persons.

He said he is beginning to doubt the wisdom of paying pensions of $40 a month to all Canadians 70 and over regardless of means.

"There is no need to pay pensions or family allowances to persons earning more than $5,000 a year. I pick that figure out of the air; possibly it should be $6,000," he said.

Mr. Thatcher suggested that the public works department estimates of $110,000,000 be reduced by $20,000,000 and that work be postponed on public buildings, post offices and wharves.

He criticized estimates of $2,039,000 for shortwave broadcasts which he said were aimed primarily at iron-curtain countries where few people had radios strong enough to receive them.

Every year for the last three years, parliament has held two sessions, he said. He estimated added cost at more than $2,000,000 last year. If rules of the Commons were brought up-to-date, sessional work could be accomplished in four or five months, he said.

Mr. Thatcher suggested that a central publicity bureau to eliminate all but the most essential government pamphlets and publications, could save some $4,000,000.

Approximately $200,000 could be saved by abolishing the national physical fitness branch of the health department, "by and large a failure," he said.

A vote of $1,500,000 to promote tourist trade could be cut by $500,000, he suggested.

He suggested that the civil service be reduced by 5 per cent to effect a saving of $16,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year.

Tour Surprises

Queen Visits Immigrants

HAMILTON, April 24 (CP)—Queen Juliana made a gruelling tour of Dutch settlements in this area today and told reporters later that she is completely satisfied that "my people are happy here."

Some 300 Dutch immigrants in the fruit-growing Niagara peninsula were reunited with their queen in scenes of joy mingled with a few tears.

Mothers with babes in their arms, beaming schoolgirls, proud fathers and wide-eyed children cheered and sang in praise of the tireless queen as she moved from farm to farm.

The tour was a surprise. The queen told a reporter she wanted to see "my people at work, without disturbing them."

In an eight-hour trip—some of [illegible] she saw Dutch farmers in their fields, nurserymen in their hothouses, cannery workers at their machines.

She asked them all how they liked Canadian life, how they found working conditions and whether they were contented with their new homes.

PEOPLE HAPPY

"My people are happy here. They have a good living. I am so glad for them."

A reporter asked the queen if she thought her trip would lead to an expansion of immigration to Canada, and she replied:

"Of course, it is our intention that it continue and expand."

Canada had absorbed some 50,000 Dutch immigrants since the end of the Second World War. About 20,000 were brought in last year and another 20,000 are expected in 1952.

Endicott May Lose Passport

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP)—Justice Minister Garson and his law officers are studying the statutes for methods to deal with reported utterances of Dr. James Endicott, Toronto cleric, implicating Canada in alleged germ warfare in Korea.

Because the statements attributed to him were made in Communist China, the difficulty will be to prove them.

External Affairs Minister Pearson today told a Commons committee that Dr. Endicott would be questioned on reports of his statements in China after he returns to Canada.

He said he was not qualified to say whether or not there was a specific statute under which Dr. Endicott could be prosecuted for statements made abroad which could damage his own country, but he hoped there was.

CANCEL PASSPORT

If Dr. Endicott's replies confirmed reports as to statements he made, Mr. Pearson said the impounding or cancellation of his passport would be considered.

Cancellation of the passport would not prevent Dr. Endicott visiting iron curtain countries or any other countries that would accept him, Mr. Pearson said.

Furthermore, he said, Dr. Endicott's citizenship is a birthright and cannot be denied him under law. Therefore, he is always free to return to Canada.

Unemployment Total Dropping

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP)—Winter unemployment has hit the downturn, the labor department reported today.

After rising steadily through the cold months, the roll at April 10 showed the same total as at March 13—377,700. This was the highest figure for the season, comparing with a post-war peak of 400,000 two years ago.

Unemployment figures by regions:

Atlantic, 52,700 (up 2,500); Quebec, 135,900 (up 13,500); Ontario, 104,400 (down 7,200); Prairies, 45,300 (down 3,800); British Columbia, 39,400 (down 5,000).

Late May or Early June Held Coronation Time

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—An authoritative source said today the Queen's coronation will take place next year during the last week in May or the first week in June. But in advance of an expected official announcement, The London Evening News pinpointed the date as June 2, 1953.

The Evening News said Prime Minister Churchill and the Dominions have agreed on the date. Buckingham Palace would not confirm the report.

Unofficial planning has already started for what is probably the oldest and most magnificent event in the world.

The man responsible for planning the actual ceremony is the 44-year-old Duke of Norfolk, hereditary Earl Marshal of England.

His toughest job will be sending invitations to the 7,500 privileged to attend and deciding the order of their precedence.

He will have help from a coronation committee of distinguished statesmen.

Before the coronation the Queen will take charge of Westminster Abbey. The Earl Marshal will take all the keys and not even the Dean of the Abbey will have duplicates.

Essentially the coronation is a simple religious service, but throughout the centuries, numerous traditional ceremonies were added until now it is a long ritual.

Truman's Ultimatum News to U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP).—President Truman stirred up a short-lived sensation today by saying he sent Premier Stalin an ultimatum backed up by the presence of U.S. troops and ships in the Middle East and forced the Russians to get out of Iran in 1946.

Truman's "disclosure," volunteered at a press conference, startled official circles until the White House, some three hours later, announced officially that:

The President did not send a personal note to Stalin.

Truman used the word ultimatum in a "non-technical, layman sense"—he didn't tell the Russians to get out or the U.S. would go to war.

The President meant, it was explained, that U.S. leadership was exerted in the United Nations, and through diplomatic channels.

Truman had said that in 1946 he sent an ultimatum to Stalin to get out of Iran. The Russians got out because the U.S. was in a position then to meet a situation of that kind, the President said.

Truman said also that at one time Yugoslavia decided to take over Trieste. He said he stopped that by ordering the Mediterranean fleet into the Adriatic Sea, and telling General Eisenhower to send three divisions to North Italy.

Field Mice in Winter Grain Overrun Alberta

EDMONTON, April 24 (CP).—Field mice—millions of them—are scampering over the Alberta countryside this spring after sheltering and feeding in unharvested grain through the winter.

They're everywhere—in towns that had no mice problem before, on highways where motorists run over them by the score, in orchards and even in farmers' combines.

"I would say the mice have multiplied by 500 or 600 times," said Superintendent A. E. Palmer of the Lethbridge Experimental Station.

Last fall millions of bushels of grain had to be left unharvested in the fields because of early snow. Stooked grain—cut, bound and piled in the fields and swathed grain—cut and left lying untied on the ground—was a natural home for mice in the fields at the time.

With plenty of grain to feed on and a good shelter from the elements, the mice multiplied.

When harvesting resumed this month the mice were sent scurrying for new shelter and feed.

In Calgary's suburban Ogden the remains of mice killed by traffic or starvation have been hauled away in wheelbarrow loads.

Farmers in the Pincher Creek district said the rodents plugged combine machinery and their chopped-up bodies caused downgrading of harvested grain.

In the Vulcan district of Southern Alberta the mice attacked the combine of one farmer who had left his machine in the field over the winter. He went back to it and found mice had chewed up almost all of one of the dual rubber tires.

Some farmers reported 100 per cent loss to 1951 left-over grain. Others who expected yield of 30 bushels to the acre got only five because of mice damage. But the over-all situation is not believed too serious.

"Hit Like Niagara"

Vancouver Fireboat Gets Credit

VANCOUVER, April 24 (BUP).—"Thank God for the fireboat."

These words echoed today in the wake of perhaps the most expensive waterfront blaze Vancouver has ever known.

The trim red craft, built at a cost of $350,000 and commissioned April 14, 1951, paid for itself 10 times over and more on Wednesday.

E. E. Buckerfield, president of one of the largest grain and feed firms on the Vancouver waterfront, pegged the saving to his business alone at $3,500,000.

"That little fireboat turned the trick," he said.

Spraying 22,000 gallons a minute from its half-dozen high velocity nozzles, the fireboat literally chopped the raging dock fire in half, keeping the flames from reaching the nearby banks of grain elevators.

Capt. Walter Cafree received the alarm at 11.34 a.m., and within 10 minutes, the boat was on the scene.

Said District Fire Chief J. E. Shaw:

"We were having trouble getting water on the flames. The first five hydrants we tried were broken. When I saw that little fireboat comin' 'round the bend, I felt like cheering. She hit that fire like Niagara Falls."

Up until Wednesday the crew of the fireboat had been forced to take a ribbing from other members of the fire department.

They called it the "showboat" because of the aquatic displays it put on for visiting dignitaries in the harbor.

Firemen today estimated the amount of water poured on the flames by the fireboat at 9,240,000 gallons.

Damage estimates are slow in coming. Dollar value of property destroyed is placed between $1,000,000 and $3,500,000.

The fireboat and about 500 firemen at the scene prevented the flames from reaching waterfront property valued at more than $8,000,000.

In Ottawa Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier told the Commons today that National Harbors Board property destroyed was covered by insurance.

The minister said he estimated that damage to property owned by the board will amount to between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000.

He said elevator No. 3, leased to the United Grain Growers' Association of Canada, was covered by insurance amounting to $1,900,000.

He also announced that the National Harbors Board has opened an investigation into the fire, but that it "will be some days before the cause of it is made known."

Plans for rebuilding grain loading facilities are under study in Ottawa by the National Harbors Board.

Hardest hit were United Grain Growers, who lost a 1,200-foot grain dock and other facilities, valued at more than $1,000,000.

Grain shipments are not expected to be delayed. Facilities of other elevators will be used.

The main elevator, valued at $3,500,000 and loaded with wheat valued at $3,000,000, escaped the fire.

Oddities

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP).—Ray Twyefort, Fifth Avenue tailor, says American men "have become a nation of bums and slobs because of slovenly dress."

He's upset particularly by soft-collared shirts worn by officials and diplomats.

"When we took the starch out of our collars we took the starch out of our backbones," he said.

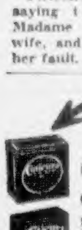

"Morals, manners and etiquette have disappeared," he declared. "Women wear babushkas, looking like Russian peasants. Ugh!"

Twyefort, in double-breasted waistcoat, striped sack suit, black homburg—and starched collar—said that in a country of capitalists you should look like a capitalist, as he does.

Letting Victoria Down

VICTORIA, Saanich and Esquimalt municipal representatives who discussed the new highway outlet plans with officials of the provincial department of public works this week apparently surrendered without resistance to the government's view that a single street will be able to handle Victoria's incoming and outgoing highway traffic in every direction. If they are still active in municipal politics a few years hence they are likely to find this acceptance of a totally inadequate highway system somewhat difficult to excuse. Meanwhile no explanation whatever has been given to the public.

Highway authorities all over the continent are spending enormous sums of money in efforts to correct the very kind of fault that the government's plan for Victoria is bound to create. When an opportunity exists now to separate three unrelated streams of traffic into and out of the capital, it is beyond understanding that anyone would deliberately cram them all together into a single channel. Such a plan ignores not merely the pressing needs of the present but also the certainty that if the southern end of the Island maintains its rate of expansion demands on highway accommodation will be multiplied a few years hence.

There are three main traffic streams into Victoria: those carrying up-Island traffic, Patricia Bay airport and Saanich Peninsula traffic, and traffic from the West Coast Road and the numerous settled areas between the city and Langford. The objective should be three distinct outlets; and the absolute minimum requirement is the separation of the two unrelated streams of traffic sharing the present Island Highway. That is what was promised by the government more than four years ago, and it is disappointing to see the municipalities allowing themselves to be short-changed.

Self-Starters

THE subject of mental health evokes in these days a flood of opinion which often is more voluble than accurate. For a genuine definition of a sound mind in a healthy body it would be hard to beat one given yesterday by Mr. R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary for British Columbia, in a thoughtful address before a local service club on provincial mental hospitals. After dealing with the serious side of his subject in an acute and instructive way, Mr. Pennington appended this definition of a rational individual:

"If an individual can accept his responsibilities, meet his problems as they arise and do something about them, can think for himself and make his own decisions, can welcome new experiences and new ideas, and can put his best effort into what he is doing and get satisfaction out of doing it, then he is mentally healthy in meeting the demands of life. Mentally healthy people are good friends, good workers, good parents and good citizens."

Volumes have been written on the subject that have said less. The simple and practical test of a sound mind is one that has a purpose in life and gets some enjoyment out of its fulfillment, not in isolation but in association with others. There is nothing much wrong with any individual who can accept his responsibilities, meet his problems and do something about them. To think for oneself is to welcome new ideas and new experiences, while no life would be worth the living if it did not bring its own satisfactions.

The more one reflects on it, the more one returns to the same starting point—a sound mind is one that can and does adjust itself to the stresses and strains of life, with confidence in that performance. Mr. Pennington has sketched in a very pertinent definition of those characteristics which make for success in personal and socially useful living in these unquiet times. His rational individual is a self-starter and a going concern. In a field where so much is uncharted about human behavior it is nice to have a down-to-earth example of a rational and normal individual. Although for many other reasons the deputy provincial secretary's address would have been outstanding, this one definition would have been eminently worth while even if it had stood alone.

First-Aid Cubbyhole

IT will probably come as a surprise to most people who patronize the Memorial Arena that the public first-aid room there is such a misnomer, being little more than a cupboard under a stairway. Its size alone indicates its appalling deficiency; 4 ft. by 12 with a ceiling at one end only two feet above the floor!

This public stadium as everyone knows, had a lamentably haphazard building plan, but it is almost inconceivable that proper provision was not made for first-aid treatment. How the St. John Ambulance Brigade is expected to carry out its work in such a space is a mystery.

Each time the arena is filled to capacity, and that is frequently, there are nearly 5,000 people packed into the building. On any of these occasions there is the distinct chance of sudden illness or minor mishap among the spectators, and it would seem to be an elementary and rightful precaution that proper accommodation should exist whereby they might receive prompt attention to their needs. This cannot be done in a hole in the corner.

We are told that because of poor original planning, which is admitted on all sides, no other room is available for first-aid purposes. The answer to that is that room should be made. Considerable room is found for the sale of beverages, for instance, and while this is a necessary amenity surely the means to treat emergent illness is as important as a bottle of pop.

One expects that the governing board will be moved to realize that the present inadequate first-aid quarters must be remedied without delay. If there is no other way but to knock through the outside wall and build a small annex, that should be done. A first-aid cubbyhole 4 feet by 12 is a disgrace.

PARKING NEAR HYDRANT

Sir,—Does anyone know how near to a fire hydrant I can park my car? I have asked this question of a policeman, a fireman, two garage men, a taxi driver, a bus driver and others, and the distance given me varies from five feet to 30.

The motor vehicle driver's manual does not even mention a fire hydrant, though it tells you what happens to your car, and you, if you drove it off a 10-story building.

Could you enlighten me on this knotty question, as I should not like to be shown the inside of a jail through ignorance of the law.

LAWRENCE W. SOWERBY.

Editor's Note: City of Victoria traffic bylaw sets the distance at 10 feet.

ALTERNATIVE VOTE

Sir,—The postman recently delivered an excellent pamphlet on alternative voting, issued by the chief electoral officer, and local theatres are showing a short educational film on the same subject. The chief electoral officer is to be commended for his efforts to make the matter clear, and by now all voters should know the right way to mark the ballot.

However, the all-important method of counting the ballots is not so clear. The explanation given on page five of the pamphlet is plain enough up to the point of the third count. In example three, 300 votes are shown for Candidate A who being "low man" drops out and his votes, on a second count, give 260 to B, 30 to C and 10 to D. On the next round B is low man with 310 votes which are given 210 to C and 400 to D, who is elected.

The question is, what happens to A's third choice? In the example given A's second choices are allotted to B, C and D, and B's second choices allotted to C and D.

Accordingly it appears that only a second choice is counted, and, as a "low man" drops out his second choices are counted for the remaining candidates. Where do the third or subsequent choices count from those eliminated in the first and second counts? If the system is carried out as given in the official example, then it is useless to mark a ballot for more than first and second choices.

This matter should be made clear beyond any doubt for the benefit of scrutineers and all others concerned. It is quite obvious that the returning officers will have their time and attention fully occupied if they receive many absentee ballots, as it appears they will have to count all through all the ballots cast in their constituencies to get the final result, three weeks after polling day.

W. WOOD.

1518 Haultain Street, Victoria, B.C.

ALTERNATIVE VOTE

Sir,—The chief electoral officer has issued an explanation of the procedure of alternative voting as it applies to the Provincial Elections Act. Page four shows an example of the ballots for a three-member constituency such as Victoria city.

Using this example let us assume the voter wishes to vote for three independent candidates as his first preference, with his second and third preferences going to party members. One of the independent candidate's name appearing on ballot A, the other two on ballot C.

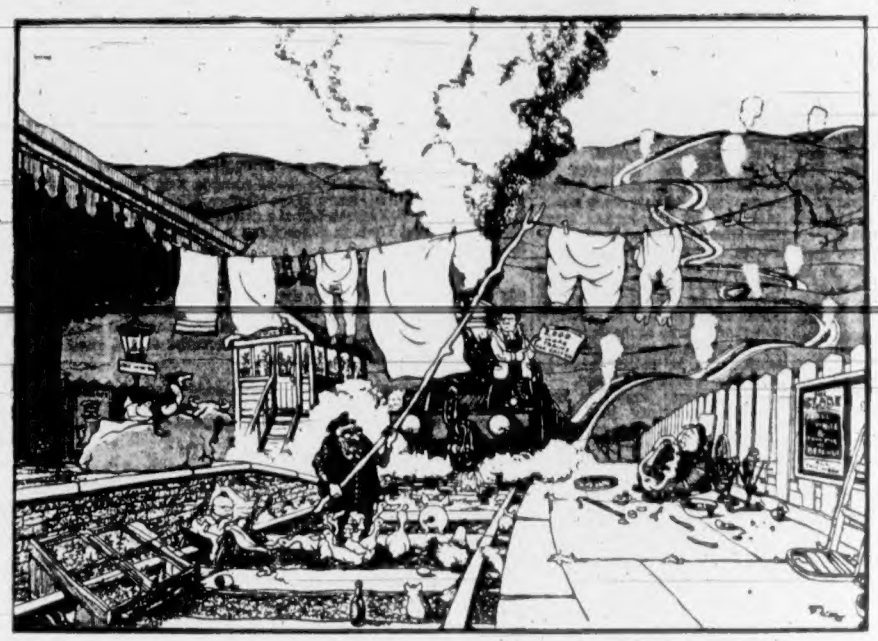

If the voter places the figure 1 against both names on ballot C the first preferences on this ballot are rejected. He can therefore only indicate one of the candidates as his first choice and give second preference to the other. This leaves the voter with a remaining first preference vote. The sensible thing to do of course is to forfeit it, or he may favor a candidate on ballot B, thus lessening the chances of his original choice being elected.

Study of this example on page four reveals a number of similar problems which will occur in the multi-member electoral district. We must conclude that this method of balloting does not allow complete competition between all of the candidates.

The solution of these problems would be of course to place all the candidates' names on the same ballot form as in previous years, and then allow the voter the same number of first, second and third preferences as there are seats to be filled.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IT was Byron, I learn from a book of quotations, who said "Let not a monument give you or me hopes, since not a pinch of dust remains of Cheops."

Naturally, although of a truth the Gizeh pyramid has served to keep his name alive, so on occasion perhaps there is something to be said for monuments. Over in Europe they think so, at any rate, no public square there being complete without half a dozen statues.

I gather from a Tokyo report, however, that General MacArthur will be disappointed if he is counting on such a physical reminder of his days of glory in Japan. It seems that in the first flush of his departure last year a group of Japanese began a fund to build a $1,400,000 monument to him. But alas, he couldn't have been the demi-god we were led to believe, for in nine months the fund has reached only $225!

* * *

Well, perhaps the U.S.A. will build him one, and of course they could honor lesser men in this way, and I daresay already have. Unless perhaps statues and monuments have gone out of fashion across the line as they have in this country. Quebec excepted and most certainly in the West, stone memorials are none too plentiful in Canada, not at least by European standards.

In our own community of Victoria, now, on the spur of the moment I can't think of more than two statues, those of Queen Victoria and Captain Vancouver. And as to the latter I go only by heresay as he is so high up in the world a close-up view is not permissible. I did once climb up to beneath his platform, but that was as far as I could get, and the imperious figure who towers over James Bay could be a metal facsimile of Dick Turpin for all I really know.

We have the odd monument, of course, as distinct from statues, but we are not monument conscious. So little do we respect them, in fact, that one was torn down not so long ago to make way for the publicity bureau, and only rescued and re-erected at the other end of the Causeway through the generosity of an anonymous and good citizen. And as I mentioned a few weeks ago a granite pillar that marks the residence site of this city's founder stands upkempt and neglected.

* * *

Different times different ways, of course, and stone or bronze monuments nowadays cost a lot of money, which somehow seems to have been a factor not greatly considered long ago. In any case I am not urging a campaign for public statues, albeit these have their merits, in moderation. When you walk through a square embellished with numerous stone figures at least you are tempted to stop, read the name thus perpetuated, and perhaps reflect a little on the individual concerned.

The rash of cenotaphs and war memorials after 1918 created a surfeit that prevented any possible duplication after 1945, however, and in consequence statue building as a whole is in some disrepute. War memorials, for instance, now take a form which no doubt is wise, that of playing grounds, memorial arenas, etc., although I confess a personal and minority feeling that the living thereby poach to some extent on the dead. And the theme of remembrance behind such projects is soon forgotten.

I know that each time I enter our ice arena I watch to see how many people cast even a glance at the memorial flags and wreath carefully spotlighted in the lobby, and I never am able to count very many. Most individuals walk past indifferently. This is inevitable, I suppose, yet it does give one cause to think. A generation hence and few will remember in whose name the arena was built.

On the other hand, as the same book of quotations reminds me, "Death comes even to the monumental stones and the names inscribed thereon," a truth you may verify any day by walking through Pioneer Square.

Free Elections in East Germany?

By W. N. EWER, from London

THE note from the Soviet government which reached London, Washington and Paris on the eve of the Easter holiday is, of course, the third of a series. It is the Soviet answer to the three-power answer to the Soviet note of March 10, urging the speedy negotiation of a peace treaty with an all-German government. And the first question which arises is does it register any advance on the proposals of that first note?

In one very important respect it certainly seems to register such an advance. For the Soviet Government now accepts, and indeed claims to have initiated, the thesis that before there can be an all-German government capable of negotiating and signing a treaty there must be "free all-German elections". Previously suggestions by the three "Western" powers that there should be such elections as an essential preliminary to the restoration of German unity had been, as the three-power declaration of September, 1950, pointed out, continually ignored by the Soviet government.

Now Moscow speaks of "the need to hold free all-German elections", and of "the full responsibility for holding such elections in the immediate future".

But the question then arises whether the Russian interpretation of the "possibility" of holding free elections is one which could possibly be accepted either by the three "Western" powers or by the German Federal Republic. Do they seriously envisage the holding of elections in East Germany in conditions of freedom even approximately the same as those which obtain in West Germany? That is the crucial question; and the new Soviet note gives little or no clue to the answer. It uses the phrase "free elections", but it gives no indication of what, in the Russian view, constitutes "freedom".

The proposal that the commission which the U.N. Assembly set up for the purpose shall investigate and report whether the conditions for free elections exist in both parts of the country is, not unexpectedly, rejected. But the Soviet government has a counter proposal of its own—the "verification" of conditions by a four-power commission. That appears, at first sight, a not unreasonable alternative. But its meaning is not clear. And there have been occasions in the past when it turned out that by a four-power investigation the Soviet government meant that each of the occupying powers should carry out the "investigation" in its own zone, and report its findings to a four-power commission. If it should prove that this is all that is meant, the offer would clearly be a derisory one and could not be seriously considered. For it would only too obviously be devised as the prelude to a Soviet report that it had been "verified" that conditions for free elections do in fact already exist in the Soviet zone.

* * *

And that brings one to the real issue. It is perfectly well known, and could hardly be challenged either by the Soviet government or by the East German government that in fact at the present time the system existing in East Germany is not one in which it would be possible to hold elections which the Western democracies could or would regard as free.

In the elections of 1950 no candidate was allowed to stand who had not been included in the "single lists" of government supporters—who, in other words, had not been either nominated or approved by the Communist organization. The electors had not only no freedom of choice; they had no choice at all. Nor has there been any change since. No opposition parties are allowed even to exist. There is no freedom of speech or organization for any but loyal supporters of the regime. All newspapers and all publications are strictly under Communist control. There can be no public discussion of any election issue. Only the point of view of the government (and of its Russian masters) can be put before the people.

These are incontrovertible facts, and it hardly seems to matter much whether they are officially reported to exist or by whom such a report is made.

The real point surely is whether the Soviet government is now prepared to change the character of the East German regime and to replace the present political conditions by new ones. Is it prepared, as a prelude to all-German elections, to restore in the East zone the fundamental freedoms of speech and press, of organization and of candidature which the Western democracies regard as essential for the holding of any elections which they could possibly regard as free?

Academic Snobbery

(From The Globe and Mail, Toronto)

MOST forms of snobbery are merely amusing. Some can be deadly; for example, the kind which looks down on people because of their occupations. It is shocking—but not wholly surprising—to find this kind of snobbery being preached by one of Canada's best known historians.

Speaking to the Ontario Educational Association, Professor A. R. M. Lower of Queen's University is quoted as saying that the educated man must expect to be lonely in Canada, because 99 per cent of the people around him are Philistines; that is, narrow-minded and materialistic. He cannot expect to be rich, because his education unfits him for the crude, competitive world of commercialism. "The truly educated man could not bear to spend his time trying to sell soft drinks."

This is wrong factually and wrong morally. A good many educated people manage to survive, and indeed to flourish, in the world of commerce and industry. Does Professor Lower really believe that the serious books and the thoughtful magazines are read only in universities? There are dozens of businessmen who will give him a lively argument any old day on history, poetry, philosophy—whatever subject he cares to name.

These people do not regard education as a barrier to commercial success, or commercial success as a barrier to education. On the contrary, they have found that the two often go together.

The truly educated man knows something else that appears to have escaped the professor. He knows that all honest work is noble. It is as honorable to scrub a floor as to teach students, to sell soft drinks as to write history books. What counts is the spirit in which the work is done. A competent mechanic is worth 10 incompetent lawyers.

It is here that Professor Lower is morally wrong. He is preaching a doctrine, if not of class hatred, then at least of class contempt. The only place for a civilized man is in the professions, preferably in the cloistered seclusion of a university. Commerce and industry should be left to the boors, the people so thick-skinned that they can endure to make and build, to sell and buy.

This is not a new doctrine. It has been preached in Canada for the last generation. As a result, our schools are crowded with students who would rather be a third-rate doctor than a first-rate carpenter, a bad teacher than a good farmer. It is regrettable that this kind of snobbery should have made such headway in our society. It is inexcusable that men of Professor Lower's standing should lend it their support; and in so doing, reveal their own Philistinism.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

THESE three-decker sandwiches may be responsible for the fact that the human mouth is growing larger all over America, wherever the three-decker is prevalent. That the mouth is growing bigger is asserted by an old family photographer of my acquaintance who had to move into new premises lately, and in the process had to clear out several tons of old photographs that had collected in his studio.

Some of these went back 70 and 80 years, the work of several predecessors in the business who had each added to the pile of plates and negatives that had accumulated in the back rooms and cupboards. My friend selected a considerable number of the fanciest and weirdest looking of the negatives and printed them up for the fun of it.

There were some dandies. Apart from the fantastic clothes, and the fact that everybody in those remote days had either to sit down or lean up against some sort of fancy table or a Grecian pillar about four feet high, the chief differences my photographer friend points out between these pictures and people of today is that they had bigger noses 70 years ago and smaller mouths. Many of the ladies had hardly any mouth at all. It was either a little, wee pucked up aperture, or a lean and forbidding slit. Many of the ladies of the 60's and 70's had noses in two or three joints. All the men had large proboscI, more like limbs than features, under which, if there was no beard, a mustache was draped to right and left, revealing a small lower lip like a cherry, or else another of those slits like the aperture in a piggy bank.

Whether the three-decker sandwiches have caused the larger mouths or the larger mouths have caused the three-decker sandwiches, the photographer and I were unable to decide. But we are satisfied mouths are getting bigger.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO — The old-age pension measure passed at Ottawa is now law, and putting it into effect in British Columbia is only a matter of agreement between the federal and provincial authorities.

50 YEARS AGO—The first steps towards organizing a retail clerks' association will be taken at a meeting to be held in the Labor Hall on Monday night.

85 YEARS AGO—A project is on foot for the construction of a telegraph line between Esquimalt and Victoria. If the tariff for telegrams is fixed low enough, the enterprise is bound to pay.

Short Play Wins High Praise

A startling performance of drama and comedy, all packaged in one short play, received high praise from audience and adjudicator alike at the South Vancouver Island Drama Festival last night.

The play, "White Iris," by Roberta Shannon, produced by the Columbine Club, dealt with the bitter jealousy of a woman for her beautiful sister.

Jessamy Doone, played by Cynthia Ross, is an invalid cared for by her sister Marcia, Dorothy House, and a maid, Dorcas, played by Kay Roberts.

Jessamy, prettier than Marcia, always had everything Marcia wanted and the final blow for Marcia comes when, unknown to her, Jessamy writes enough good poetry to have a book published.

She shows the book to Marcia, and, instead of praise, she is scorned. Marcia then confesses to her sister that it was she that caused the accident that crippled her, because of her love for the man Jessamy had won.

The maid and a frivolous friend, Lucy Clair, played by Maureen Fitzgerald, pop in and out of the action, bringing a comedy relief to the heavy, morbid plot.

Adjudicator Ian Dobbie complimented the cast on a brilliant performance and for their good understanding of the plot.

The first performance of the evening, "Sunday Costs Five Pounds," by [illegible] Theatre Guild Studio, was complimented by the adjudicator for fast pace and excellent acting.

Dealing with the romantic troubles of a young Mexican carpenter and door-carver, it is primarily a comedy, but was taken a little too seriously by the cast and did not draw the laughs it was written for.

Gerry Guest as Fidel and Lois Greenwood as Berta, the lovers, were very good, and a hair-pulling scene between Berta's friend, Salome, played by Tanis Monteith, and her rival, Celestina, Bernice Pluym, was so realistic women in the audience winced.

The third play of the evening, "Grey Bread," was put on by the Duncan United Church Young People's Union, and told the story of an old peasant woman trying to show her granddaughter the folly of falling in love with every handsome man that appeared.

The grandmother, played by Patricia Brownsey, fights with the girl's mother, Evelyn Fultz, to make her daughter settle down and learn some of the arts of being a housewife.

The mother, determined that her daughter, played by Sybil Smillie, is going to have all the things in life she missed, lets the girl live her own life of dreaming and laughing until her lover leaves her, and she finds everything the grandmother has told her is true.

Mr. Dobbie complimented the cast on the work they had done, and despite their inexperience, he said, they had taken on and handled well a difficult plot.

The third evening of the festival will be at 8 tonight at Victoria High School.

Four-Province Social Credit Bloc Envisioned

A Social Credit, four-province bloc could "thumb its nose at Ottawa," Dr. H. H. W. Byerstein, Social Credit M.P. for Camrose, Alta., told some 100 party adherents in Esquimalt last night.

"The eyes of the world will be on B.C. on June 12, election day," he said.

"Saskatchewan's C.C.F. government won't be re-elected, according to the Gallup poll, and we're better organized there than we are in B.C.

"A Social Credit victory in B.C. would spur our people in Saskatchewan, and we have plenty of time in Manitoba," he said.

His audience, in the Boilermakers' Hall, was promised that Social Credit intended to make no changes in Canada's monetary system, other than to give the people the right to control their own credit.

Cycles of production and distribution would be exactly the same as now, Dr. Byerstein said, except that Social Credit would step in where over-surplus began, and create new credit out of it in the form of public works, pensions and the like.

If there was inflation, Social Credit would still have to combat it by taxation, he warned.

W. N. Chant, the party's standard-bearer in the Esquimalt constituency, said the province has a bonded indebtedness that is climbing year by year.

Service charges on B.C.'s debt alone amount to $20,000,000 a year, and the province's roads are in debt $110,000,000.

Ex-finance minister Herbert Anscomb mortgaged the province to pay off a bank overdraft in New York which will still reach $43,000,000 within another year, he said.

Scott Claims Wismer in Full Retreat

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer "is in full retreat from Bill Scott," according to W. A. Scott, Independent candidate in the June provincial election, addressing a public meeting last night.

Mr. Scott fired several verbal broadsides against the Liberal government, under heading of "Liberal Betrayal Astounding."

Scott stated his one-plank platform very simply. "I promise to find out what the minority groups want, and, if elected, will speak with the voice, not of Bill Scott —but of the public, the minority groups."

He said he has "a profound respect for liberalism in the true sense of the word." But the present-day leaders of the Liberal Party in British Columbia have put the party ahead of the people, he said.

He said Herbert Anscomb, Conservative leader, is "ruthless, aggressive and has ability and brains. But I don't think he has the human touch.

"Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., is the one lonely orphan who stands out among the Conservatives," he said.

Social Credit, which Mr. Scott calls "the social confounded" party, is only a splinter group of Liberals and Conservatives, he said. "It is only a protest group."

"No citizens are being looted as heavily as in British Columbia," he said. The Liberals' "utter disregard of democratic government has put them back into the class of kings and feudal lords."

Mr. Scott took a stand against the proposed Canada-Japan fisheries treaty, "because I was a personal witness to Japanese fishing outrages. The Japanese will commit any crimes or violate any codes of ethics."

"Americans are the greatest menace on the Coast today, not the Japanese," he said.

He feels Canadian fishermen should benefit under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

He called himself "a militant pacifist," in answer to a question by E. Neish, vice-president of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, who was chairman of the meeting.

"Hospital insurance is a necessary evil," he said, in answer to another question, by C. I. R. Watling, secretary of the Citizens' League.

"But none of us should have to pay for hospital care," he said.

B.C. Families Heading East, Figures Show

B.C. families are heading east.

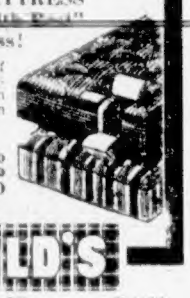

For the first time in several months the number of families leaving British Columbia exceeded those entering from other parts of Canada, according to the April report of the family allowances division issued yesterday by W. R. Bone, regional director.

A total of 498 families left British Columbia, while only 412 entered. Most British Columbians headed for Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Total family allowances paid in British Columbia for the month were $1,978,423 to 330,502 children in 167,241 families.

Active Stocks Market Guide

Industrials on the active list suffered worst yesterday in the sagging market. B-A Oil and Imperial Oil led the downward trend at Toronto, while the Montreal industrial list showed a wide spread of declines with Massey-Harris and Bell Telephone as exceptions.

New York's active ten were split evenly between gains and losses.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG, April 24 (CP)—Prices of coarse grains futures generally were sharply lower today.

The decline reflected the prairies' continued good weather for spring harvest, heavy grain deliveries and declines in U.S. grain and commodity markets.

Commercial demand was moderate. It included some U.S. shipping demand for oats, processor buying in barley and a few purchases in flax.

Industrials Lose Steadily At Montreal

MONTREAL, April 24 (CP)—Prices were off sharply at the close. Trading picked up slightly from slow earlier pace.

Papers, steels and senior metals lost steadily. All other groups were lower.

Dominion Bridge slipped two points to 75, while Algoma Steel lost 1¼ at 45⅝. Hudson Bay Mining and Aluminum lost a point each at 52 and 96½ respectively.

Mines and western oils followed the lower industrial trend. Losses ranged to 25 cents in active trading. Barvue was active and down 25 cents at a new low. Other declines included Carnegie, Ontario Pyrites and Merrill. Okalta, Del Rio and Anglo-Canadian were off in the oils.

Slow Toronto Trade

TORONTO, April 24 (CP)—Industrials and western oils stretched a steady decline through the third consecutive session today as selling weakened a broad list of issues. Trading was slow.

Steels, constructions, foods, liquors, refining oils, textiles and manufacturing companies led industrials lower with losses ranging to more than a point. Papers, agricultures, retail stores and miscellaneous issues also slipped. Banks and utilities were mixed.

Western oil losses ranged to about 75 cents. Anglo-Canadian, Calvan, Del Rio, Jupiter, Sapphire, Trans-Empire, Western Leaseholds and Canadian Williston dipped sharply.

Base metals made little headway.

Senior golds showed little trend. McIntyre dropped $1 in spotty trading. Junior producers, prospects and holding companies showed a wide list of losses.

Britalta Moves Up

VANCOUVER, April 24—Western oils were marked down with some regularity today. In a big list of ten-cent declines were Anglo-Canadian, Canadian Atlantic, Central Leduc, Calvan and Okalta. Other losers were Federated, Charter, A.P. Con., Continental, Rundle and Amalgamated. An exception was Britalta, which jumped 40 cents to 6.50.

Mines were generally lower. Western Uranium at 3.80 and Pioneer Gold each lost 20 cents.

Industrials were also lower. Canadian Western Lumber was off ⅛ at 8⅝ and MacMillan and Bloedel was 17⅝, off half a dollar.

Williston Activity

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Churning oil stocks kept the stock market in a ferment today and resulted in a wide and mostly downside mixture of prices.

The Williston basin was the cause of it all.

John C. Case, vice-president of Socony Vacuum, told stockholders at the annual meeting of his extreme optimism over Socony's propects in Williston.

Thereafter came a big rebound. Northern Pacific, which has more than 3,000,000 acres there, moved right ahead and closed up 2 at 76½ after selling as low as 72⅝.

Amerada, which first struck oil there a year ago, recovered and closed with a loss of 2¼ at 216¾ after it touched a low of 212.

London Prices

LONDON, April 24 (Reuters)—Speculators were active in Japanese bonds on the stock exchange today following news of Japan's strong foreign exchange position and her decision to join the international monetary fund and world bank.

Prices soared about five points and then fluctuated violently to close around 2½ points higher on the day.

Sawmill Salvation Seen in Chemistry

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

British Columbia sawmill operators depressed by loss of markets, may take heart from Hillman Lueddemann of Portland who thinks that the wood chemical industry is going to give the sawmills a new lease of life and a much wider market for their products.

Mr. Lueddemann is president of the West Coast Lumberman's Association and he believes that the new age of wood chemistry will make present-day sawmills in the Pacific northwest look like a Rube Goldberg contraption.

He urges lumbermen to promote, encourage and finance manufacturing plants and chemical works which would use their wood as a raw material.

Edibles for man and beast, feeding molasses, wonder drugs, rayon, fibres, ship stores, pulp products, plastics, tannins, wax, ethyl alcohol, methalene, turpentine, lignin and explosives are some of the products on Mr. Lueddemann's list of possibilities.

He said that one west coast factory manufactures 11 valuable commercial products from Douglas fir bark.

Mr. Lueddemann says that chemical plants can profitably be built adjoining sawmills to use the leftover scrap, trim, edgings, shavings and sawdust.

Already in British Columbia, the leading sawmill operators are making better use of their raw materials than ever before by modern processing methods.

For instance, B.C. Forest Products' Victoria mill has eliminated the wastage in millends by installing barker and chipper machinery. This means that only the bare bark is left as hog fuel. Everything else goes either to the sawmill or the pulp plants.

HUNDREDS OF USES

At Prince Rupert where the U.S. firm, Columbia Cellulose Ltd. is manufacturing acetate and cellulose pulp, the basis of the operation is wood chemistry. Pulp from Prince Rupert will eventually go to the chemical subsidiary at Edmonton where it will be turned to hundreds of uses.

But while the big operators are basing their economies on these new developments, the smaller sawmills are fast becoming obsolete, and Mr. Lueddemann's suggestion that they should encourage chemical co-operation, may yet prove their salvation.

TELEVISION PROBLEM

Television is creating a new problem for the real estate business. The question has arisen whether television aerials are fixtures or personal properties, and whether on sale of property they should go with the owner or with the house.

Seattle Real Estate Board has been asked to solve the problem but is snagged because there has been no legal determination in the U.S. to date.

The board, however, considers that much depends on the understanding between buyer and seller as to what goes and what does not go with the property. It suggests that where such aerials exist they should be specifically mentioned in the earnest money receipt to avoid later controversy.

In view of the fact that Victoria has already more than 700 television sets in operation, the problem may easily become a local one, and the Seattle board's advice is one which should be borne in mind by local realtors. It pays to be forewarned.

New Saskatchewan Oilfield Extends

REGINA, April 24 (CP)—Successful drillstem tests of one of Socony-Vacuum Exploration Company's latest step-out in the Fosterton area of Saskatchewan indicated a fourth producer, company officials announced today.

This indicated a further eastward extension of the new-found medium oil field.

Petroleum Firm's Profit Increase

International Petroleum Company reported a net income for 1951 of $31,214,400, equal to $2.15 a share, as against 1950 net income of $24,812,900, or $1.71 a share.

The company operates in Canada, the United States, Peru, Colombia and Venezuela.

Thefts From Squirrels Denied by Minister

By Colonist Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER, April 24.—The provincial forestry department is "a little bit squirrelly," a delegate to the provincial Liberal convention charged today.

William Haylee of New Westminster complained about the way he said the department gets its seeds for use in its reforestation program.

The government buys pine cones from boys and girls who collect them during the summer. But Mr. Haylee said the children take the easy way out by raiding squirrels' caches.

"Since squirrels are small animals they gather only the smallest cones," he said, "so were getting the very lowest type of seed for our new forests."

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney denied the whole story.

British Columbia's boys and girls don't go around stealing from squirrels, he said.

"But," he admitted, "we have had to clamp down because they have been cutting down the trees to save themselves the trouble of climbing up and picking the cones."

William R. Clark Elected by Victoria Rotary Club

William R. Clark yesterday was elected president of the Victoria Rotary Club. He will succeed George I. Warren following installation ceremonies to be held early in July.

Elected to serve a two-year term on the board of directors were T. M. Bradbury, S. H. Evans, Alfred Heaslip and H. A. Johnston.

Mr. Clark was elected after the members had cast a total of three separate ballots. There were three candidates, Mr. Clark, Dr. J. T. Cruise and Capt. Ronald Newell. According to the club's constitution the president must be elected with a clear majority. The first two ballots did not give that. Capt. Newell offered to drop out.

Mr. Clark has been a member of the Victoria Rotary Club since August, 1942. He served on the directorate in 1945, 1946 and 1947 and has been active on a number of committees. He is presently chairman of the community projects committee, and vice-chairman of the community service group.

He is a partner in the drug gists' firm of McGill & Orme Ltd., and is a past president of the B.C. and Victoria Pharmaceutical Associations. He is also associated with the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, having served two years on its directorate.

Alberta Cadet Officer Wins Highest Royal Roads Award

Cadet Wing Cmdr. J. A. Marshall of Castor, Alta., has been declared the winner of the governor-general's silver medal, awarded annually to the student who proves himself most proficient academically at the Canadian Services College at Royal Roads.

Marshall will be presented with the top award at graduation exercises this afternoon for more than 60 cadets who have completed their two-year course at the Tri-Services College.

The governor-general's bronze medal this year goes to another Albertan, Air Force Cadet C. A. Shook of Lamont.

Two new awards were instituted at Royal Roads this year. French-speaking Air Force Cadet J. G. R. Tardif of St. Eloutere, Que., won top honors for making the most progress in the English language, while Air Force Cadet J. L. Kilger of Ottawa made the most notable advancement in French classes.

Cadet Wing Cmdr. Marshall also captured the H. E. Sellers telescope for being chosen senior cadet of the year. The commandant's cup, awarded annually to the second-year cadet who proves himself outstanding in athletic ability and sportsmanship, went to Cadet J. E. Czaja of Winnipeg.

Air Force Cadet G. R. Rayment of Medicine Hat, Alta., was awarded the director of studies cup for being chosen the first year student most outstanding in sports.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Victoria's Cougars couldn't quite make it but there is nothing but admiration for their scrappy showing in reaching the P.C.H.L. [illegible] before going under. They had little but willingness at the finish but it was almost enough. There must have been a lot of worried people in Saskatoon at the end of the second period on Wednesday night. The Cougars were ahead and odds if the series had been extended to seven games would not have been much more than even.

In the final analysis sheer fight could not make up for weaknesses apparent throughout the season. The Cougars lacked balance with too many weak spots, they lacked most of all men who could put the puck in the net, they lacked a consistent defense, they had only fair goaling until the playoffs, and they have still to learn the knack of getting the puck out of their defensive zone. Yet the tremendous play of a stalwart half dozen and the best they had from the rest of the Cougars was just about enough.

Singling out players for special mention in the face of a fine team showing is difficult but it is just as difficult to fail to pay credit where credit is due and it is not hard to name Andy Hebenton, Jerry Cotnoir, Roger Leger, Les Hickey, Doug Anderson and Bob Frampton.

To this writer, who missed the semi-finals against New Westminster, the outstanding Cougar could be none other than Hebenton. The stocky winger must have averaged 40 minutes a game and he never stopped skating. He was always a scoring threat, he killed off penalties, his backchecking saved situation after situation and his will to win was as great as that of Leger.

The other five are close behind. Cotnoir was exceptional in post-season play and without him there would have been no final for Victoria. Hicky, playing on his wrong wing, always steady, always in position and always trying, came into his own in post-season play and led his team in scoring points. Anderson was another of those "never-stop" performers. His forechecking stood out and in most games he covered his centre-ice area like a blanket. Frampton led the Cougars in goals, helped kill off penalties and with Hebenton and Reg Abbott formed the club's best attacking unit.

And, firing his club with his indomitable spirit, there was always Leger, shaking off injury and illness, asking no quarter and giving none, a peerless competitor whose prototype must have been responsible for the old truth that "a ball-game is never over until the last man is out."

However, great as they were, these six couldn't have done it by themselves and so to all of the Cougars, it's hats off for effort.

A year ago Vancouver didn't even have a good ball park and for the first five post-war W.I.L. seasons, didn't draw as many fans as Victoria. Now, with a new park and the not-unexceptional 1951 attendance of 170,000 for a city its size, Vancouver sportswriters are bemoaning the fact they have to play in the same league with such "villages" as Yakima, Wenatchee, Tri-City, Lewiston and Salem . . . It's hard to understand how Fred Whittaker was left off the Vancouver soccer club picked to play Tottenham. The big North Shore star is the best centre forward in the Coast Soccer League and the one who has the experience, size and drive to show up against such fine opposition . . . A bouquet to Warren Giles, National League president, for publicly admitting that one of his umpires had made a mistake and was punished for it. Too often officials are backed to the limit by league heads despite inefficiency and mistakes when players pay for the same faults . . . Jack Harshman, former Victoria first-baseman, is pitching for the Minneapolis Millers . . . This writer is one who feels United did the wise thing in returning to the line-up which carried the club to its present lofty rating. With Joe Robbins at left back, the club has the best defense in the Coast Soccer League. Shifting Robbins weakened this without materially improving the attack . . . Years ago, a live rabbit was tossed on the ice at Chicago during a N.H.L. game. This season, someone heaved a dead duck out at Memorial Arena but the high was reached at Detroit during the last game of the Stanley Cup final when a fan hoisted a small octopus onto the playing surface . . . Montreal's Junior Canadiens played 91 games this season before they were eliminated in the Memorial Cup semi-final. Junior hockey? . . . Cece Garriott showed considerable extra-base power and a penchant for drawing bases on balls at Visalia last season although his average was only .292. He had 15 home runs, nine triples and 15 doubles among his 90 hits, drove in 78 runs, and walked 112 times' . . . Reports that Norm Baker had left the Shamrocks are only partially true. There was a difference of opinion but it was learned last night that it has been smoothed over and that the big blonde will stay with the club.

Dour Rogers Hornsby Gets Browns Away Fast

Hornsby now the Browns pilot.

Roger the Rookie back in 1917.

Baseball career of 35 years is spanned by these two pictures. From 1917, when he broke in wtih St. Louis Cardinals as second baseman, Hornsby went on to lead National League in hitting seven times, three times batting over .400. He went on to manage Cards, New York Giants, Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs, winning world series with Cards in 1926. He was out of major leagues for lengthy period, but returned this year after leading Seattle to Coast League championship in 1951 as manager of St. Louis Browns, perennial trailers. But Browns are early-season sensation this season, leading American League with seven wins in eight games. And hard-bitten Hornsby, who rules his players with iron glove in steel casing, is given major share of credit.

Just like the Brooklyn Dodgers, Victoria Tyees seem to lack pitching but, just like the Brooklyn Dodgers, they seem to be prepared to make up for it at the plate.

Manager Cece Garriott, showing every indication that he intends to play them one at a time, used up four pitchers at Yakima last night. They gave up quite a few bases on balls and nine hits and weren't helped by four errors but their teammates came through with a concentrated 16-hit attack, good enough for a 16-8 triumph and a clean sweep of the opening series.

WELL, WELL!

Victory left Victoria still sharing first place with Spokane Indians with Vancouver's hard-hitting Capilanos and Lewiston Broncs a game behind in third place. Colored-lefthander Jehosi Heard will probably do the pitching tonight.

The Tyees now move over to Lewiston for four games, winding up Sunday with a doubleheader. They open at home Tuesday against Wenatchee.

In winning their first three games, the first time for Victoria in seven W.I.L. seasons, the Tyees have shown excellent power. They have scored 35 runs on 39 hits and the presumption is growing they may be hard to handle if the front office can come up with some nine-inning pitchers.

Once again, the Tyees showed an ability to come from behind. Trailing, 6-2, going into the sixth inning, they erupted for seven runs and then made it safe with a five-run outburst in the seventh. Three fine catches by centrefielder Gene Klinger kept the score from reaching box car figures.

IT STARTS

A single by Don Pries, a long double off the wall by Granny Gladstone, and a single by Chuck Abernathy gave the Tyees a 2-2 tie in the fourth after the Bears had taken advantage of the wildness of starter John Valerie to score two runs in the first.

Four bases on balls and four hits, one of them a three-run double from the bat of Pries, put the Tyees ahead to stay in the sixth.

The Bears moved close in their half of the sixth with two runs off George Randolph, who replaced Bill Wisneski after the latter was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the top half of the inning, but the Tyees came right back in their next turn.

IT KEEPS UP

Abernathy flew out but John Treece walked, bringing in a third Yakima pitcher, Milt Martin walked and Ben Lorino, who probably got credit for the win after relieving Randolph in the sixth, singled home Treece. Luther Branham singled and both Martin and Lorino scored when the ball got past outfielder Jerry Zuvella. Then Garriott stepped up to deliver a tremendous 400-foot home run, first of the season for the Tyees.

A base on balls to Pries and singles by Branham, Moniz and Garriott and Gladstone's outfield fly completed the scoring in the ninth.

Each of the Tyees hit safely except Wisneski and Randolph, who did not bat. The first five men in the order—Branham, Moniz, Garriott, Pries, Gladstone and Abernathy, had two hits.

Frank Chase, youthful right-hander who was with Victoria early last season and is out on option from Portland, pitched Spokane Indians to their third straight win last night at Spokane, winning 5-1 from Salem, on a neat three-hitter.

At Wenatchee, the powerful Vancouver Capilanos rolled up 17 hits to blast the Chiefs, 12-2. Catcher John Ritchey led the way with two triples, a double and a single good for three runs.

In the other game, Lewiston walked to a 12-6 win over Tri-City. Seven bases on balls featured a wild sixth inning for the Broncs.

No Changes In Finale For United

There will be experiments with the Victoria United line-up tomorrow when it plays Vancouver City in an important Coast Soccer League match at Brockton Point.

After trying several line-up switches in the past few games, coach Wally Milligan and manager George Eade have decided to return to the old team.

Saturday's game is the final one for the second-half leaders and victory is a must. A win will assure Victoria of no less than a tie for the half honors.

A United win would give them 15 points and automatically eliminate New Westminster Royals. However, Vancouver Firefighters, with four more games to play, could still tie.

Wally Milligan will be back at centre-forward with Stan Bob and Den McGee on either side and Cedric Robb and Bernie Clarkson on the wings. Sid Robbins will pivot brother Jack and John Pickburn on the half-line, Bill Hope and Joe Robbins will be the fullbacks and Bill McAllister will be in goal.

In reserve are Noel Morgan, Jack Strachan and Frank Lohner.

Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Here's a player addressing his ball with a long iron. Probably it's a No. 2. That means the player wants a long, low flight. This is a desirable shot against a head wind to minimize the cancellation of distance which a lofted wood club and a high ball would give. Notice that the feet are well apart in the wide, open stance called for by woods and long irons. Our player is now all ready to swing. And he should make this swing in precisely the same way he would swing any long wood club with the principal difference that he'll be careful to be just short of horizontal at the top of the backswing. This makes for accuracy with the irons and it is easier to bring the club-face down and back to exact contact with the ball. In shooting a long iron usually you're shooting for the pin and precision is a big factor. This player is starting right. The flight should be good.

Signs of Stress Appear As Rajah Almost Smiles

ST. LOUIS, April 24 (AP). — Rogers Hornsby, the stone-faced rajah of baseball, today was like a stern father trying to hide his pride in a spunky son.

He almost smiled in talking about the victory surge of his button-bustin' Browns. Sports writers last year called them the "lowly" Browns. Today they held a lofty perch—first place in the American League.

As his still somewhat wet-behind-the-ears club whooped it up with newly-won confidence, the grey-haired rajah tried hard to appear unimpressed after the game.

"Great job of pitching by Caln," said Hornsby. "Fine game. Our boys are hustling."

ELABORATES

Today the blunt Mr. Hornsby elaborated: "Fine game, our boys are hustling. We're getting the pitching."

Shortstop Marty Marion, who like Hornsby has been with winning teams before, was less reluctant.

"These kids are just plain crazy to play baseball," the ex-Cardinal manager said, "and when you get a bunch of fellows on one club all as eager to play as these Browns, you know anything can happen."

FANS SHOW INTEREST

St. Louis fans, who in previous seasons showered most of their attention on the Cardinals, are wildly enthusiastic about the new Browns.

The temperature last night was as cold—50 degrees—as the pitchers were hot, yet attendance was 7,110. That brought the Brownie home gate this year to 70,916, compared with 22,576 for five playing dates last year.

Third Catcher Joins Tyees; May Aid Trade

Victoria Tyees acquired a third catcher yesterday.

Business-manager Reg Patterson announced last night that his club had purchased the contract of Marion Watson from Stockton of the California State League. Watson played 84 games for Tacoma last season, batting .279 and driving in 42 runs with his assortment of nine doubles, one triple, a home run and 61 singles. In 21 games with Stockton he hit .342. He is a lefthanded hitter.

Whether or not Watson will replace either Milt Martin or John Willburn as one of the two catchers now with the Tyees remains to be seen. However, a deal is brewing with the New York Yankees organization in which the Tyees would receive a pitcher if they can supply the Yankees' Boise Club with a catcher and it will be up to manager Cece Garriott to decide who goes.

Sale of tickets for the Victoria opener against Wenatchee on Tuesday continued brisk yesterday as fans started in warm up to their club after its two opening wins. Tickets are on sale daily from 10 to 5 at the Home Furniture Co., 825 Fort Street.

Oak Bay Sets Annual Match

The annual president's vs. captain's match will be played at the Victoria Golf Club Saturday. Players are to arrange their own starting times.

For the past three seasons New York Yankees could do nothing wrong . . . now it seems they can do nothing right.

Relief pitcher Bob Kuzava forced in the winning run by walking Billy Goodman in the 11th inning yesterday to give Boston Red Sox a 3-2 victory over the Yanks.

That pitching miscue came after catcher Sammy White, who had homered for the first Boston run in the fifth, beat out an infield roller. Dom DiMaggio singled and Jim Piersall strolled to load the bases with two out.

Kuzava took over for starter Ed Lopat in the 10th. Two innings previously, the world's champions' tricky southpaw had fallen into a 2-2 tie when Gene Stephens, running for Don Lenhardt, who had singled, reached third base on Johnny Mize's wild throw and scored on Clyde Vollmer's fly to left field.

In the only other major league which survived the cold and rain Boston Braves snapped a three-game losing streak by defeating the New York Giants, 6-3, in 10 innings.

LANIER FALTERS

Lefty Max Lanier shut out the Braves for the first seven innings but was replaced in the eighth by Dave Koslo when Boston scored three runs to tie the count. Koslo was the victim of the Braves' winning spurt in the 10th.

Hero of the Braves' uprising was rookie Ed Mathews, who doubled with the bases loaded, sending home two runs.

Well-Rested Newcastle XI Confident of Cup Victory

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON, April 24 (CP).—Newcastle United, rated as one of the greatest soccer teams of all time, is within a single game of realizing its greatest ambition—victory over London's powerful Arsenal eleven in the May 3 Cup Final at Wembley.

A triumph in this classic will give the Tynesiders the prized Football Association Trophy two years running, a record that eluded another Newcastle squad 41 years ago. A rare feat in Britain's rugged professional competition, it hasn't been accomplished since Blackburn Rovers did it in 1891.

CLOSE IN 1911

The Newcastle club of 1911, however, almost turned the trick. Defeating Barnsley in the 1910 final, United clashed with Bradford City the following year and after holding the opposition to a scoreless tie in the regulation playoff, lost the torrid replay by a 1-0 count.

Newcastle supporters who cheered their favorites to victory over Blackpool a year ago, are confident they will repeat at Wembley next month. At that, the Northerners hold a slight edge in the season's league skirmishes, defeating Arsenal 2-0 in an early season draw and holding the Gunner's to a 1-1 tie at Highbury on April 16.

The only Cup Final meeting of the two clubs resulted in a 2-1 victory for Newcastle in 1932.

WELL-RESTED CLUB

Well up among the First Division leaders, Newcastle has been concentrating on the cup. Since knocking out favored Tottenham Hotspur, 3-0, in the fourth round, Newcastle has scored only two victories in 11 league fixtures. Their regulars have been given plenty of rest.

Meanwhile, Arsenal has engaged in a losing battle to the wire for the First Division title. Manchester United virtually clinched the title this week by moving two points ahead.

Each has a regular fixture to play Saturday. Even if Manchester loses and Arsenal wins, deadlocking the teams on a point basis, Manchester would take it on the better goal average—unless Arsenal breaks out with a rash of goals.

SEVEN HOLDOVERS

Thus, fresher physically, Newcastle enters its ninth cup final with seven of last season's winning team. They are Joe Harvey, the captain, Bob Cowell, Frank Brennan, Tom Walker, Bob Mitchell, George Robledo and Jackie Milburn, who scored the only two goals in the 1951 final.

Among the newcomers fate was possibly kindest to young Billy Foulkes, starring at inside right. Given a free transfer by Cardiff City at the start of the season, Billy signed up with Chester in the Third Division. He so impressed the scouts that Newcastle willingly put up a five-figure fee for his services.

Playdown Pool In A.H.L. Only $60.291

NEW YORK, April 24 (CP)—Pittsburgh Hornets received slightly more than one-third of a $60,291.37 jackpot for winning the American League Calder Cup playoff championship, league headquarters announced today.

The Hornets, who defeated Providence Reds four games to two in the best-of-seven final, received a total of $20,499.13. Providence's share was $16,278.72.

The rest of the money was split along the teams eliminated in the preliminary rounds, with their percentage based on the regular season standing and how far they survived in the playoffs.

Hershey received $9,043.74, Cincinnati $7,536.45, Cleveland $3,-918.85 and Buffalo $3,014.58.

The players shared in 50 per cent of the net receipts from the 17 minimum games necessary to decide a winner in the five playoff series. A total of 23 games were played.

Students Expect To Be Right in Softball Scramble

Victoria senior "A" men's softball fans will be treated to a preview of the 1952 season Sunday afternoon at Central Park when Chinese Students and B.C. Forest Products meet in an exhibition contest. Game time is 2.30.

"We're stronger this season than we were last year," Student manager Gar Taylor stated yesterday while disclosing his tentative line-up.

Only eight members of last year's club are reported turning out for the club. They are Charlie McKay, Jimmy Chan, Jimmy John, Bung Derr, Don Robinson, Quinton Mar, Tom Derr and Toy Mar.

Two newcomers are vying for the catching post left vacant by Gordy Chow. They are Jack Allan, who played last year with the Navy team, and Andy George, who was a member of the service club several seasons back.

McKay and Chan are the two pitchers returning while Henry Wong, formerly of Nanaimo, and Bud Collier who played for Bluebird Cabs last year as possible additions.

The infield has Jimmy John at first, with Eddie Lou and Bernie Sam, two senior "B" players, fighting it out for the keystone sack. Bung Derr at third and Robinson at shortstop.

Quinton Mar, Tom Derr, Toy Mar and Tim Walker, with Bluebirds last season, are in the battle for outfield posts.

Forest Products are displaying a lot of hustle in their pre-season workouts and promise that this year things will be different.

Bud Ross has taken over the coaching duties and will also take his regular turn on the mound. Cy Guest, a member of Pitzer & Nex last year has announced his intentions of coming out with the team as has the much-sought-after Norm Haskell. This would leave the team with three top pitchers.

Tony Bishop will probably be back at his first base post while the remaining infield berths are being sought by Jeff Worall, Don Hendry, Pete Bridge, Charlie Sansbury and 17-year-old rookie Gordie Jones.

Joe Travis, Herb Bates, George Brown and Bob Embleton are interested in landing outfield posts.

Rehabilitation Pays Off In Washington Lakes

Washington State anglers certainly can't complain about what is being done to provide them with good fishing. Scores of lakes have been—and are being—rehabilitated and millions of fry are being planted each spring.

More than 7,000,000 legal-length fish have been planted this year and while the 1952 figure is slightly lower than the 1951 plant, the weight of fish is approximately the same. This year's plant included 4,202,000 rainbow trout, 540,000 steelhead, 162,500 cutthroats and 30,000 Montana brown spots.

Next year, the plant will be even larger. All State Game Department Hatcheries, four U.S. Fish and Wildlife Hatcheries and three State Fisheries Hatcheries are crammed to overflowing with eggs.

The rainbow egg take from State brood stock hit a new high of 22,000,000 this year. The federal hatchery at Winthrop is caring for 950,000 rainbow and 750,000 eastern brook trout as well as 33,000 rainbow fingerlings. Another hatchery has 750,000 silvers, 350,000 eastern brook and 75,000 rainbow fingerlings, another has 150,000 eastern brook and a fourth has 500,000 cutthroat. It all adds up to a lot of potential fishing.

One of the features of this year's program is an interesting experiment at Whidbey Island, which has several tidewater ponds. Salt water is being gradually introduced into State Fisheries ponds at Bowman Bay, which hold 5,000 yearling cutthroats. When these fish are acclimated to salt water they're to be planted in those Whidbey Island ponds.

Rehabilitation Pays Off

That rehabilitation has been paying off was shown conclusively Sunday, opening day of the 1952 trout season in Washington, at two lakes.

At Big Twin Lake, in Chelan County, occurred one of the most amazing one-day catches in the history of fishing. Two crews, working from early morning through the day on the two roads that lead to the lake, checked a total of 1,596 anglers and found they had caught a total of 17,263 trout, an average of almost 11 per fisherman.

The check was accurate with four-men crews registering the name of the angler, his car license number and the number and size of the fish in his creel. A later check of the information gathered made certain there were no duplications.

The fish taken were between 17 and 11 inches long, the latter averaging about half a pound.

This was the second season for Big Twin Lake since it was rehabilitated. It had a good year in 1950 and was restocked a year ago with 54,8000 fry. It's going to need restocking again if this keeps up.

Green Lake, within a few minutes drive of downtown Seattle, was poisoned in 1950 to get rid of undesirable fish and replanted. No fishing was allowed until this year's opening on Sunday, when an estimated crowd of 10-12,000 turned out to fish or watch. Almost 4,000 cars and trucks were parked in the immediate area of the 225-acre lake. 65 policemen were detailed to patrol the lake and route traffic at 4 a.m. and were relieved by a force of 51 at 11 a.m. About 600 boats were on the lake and fishermen were almost shoulder to shoulder on the shores. Coffee and hot dog stands did a brisk business, giving the whole scene a carnival air.

Fishing was good, too, with Roy Banner, State Game Department fish biologist, estimating a two-pound average with larger ones taken from the middle of the lake going up to three pounds or more. One fisherman got his limit in less than an hour, which is good fishing anywhere. The limit is seven and a half pounds plus one fish or 15 small fish.

But I'll take Vancouver Island. Those eight-ounce 11-inchers at Big Twin Lake are for the goldfish bowl and I'd like a bit more elbow room than Green Lake offers. A fellow needs it when he goes fishing with Stan Williams.

Boston Shortstop Leads Major League Freshmen

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—First rundown of the 1952 rookie crop in the major leagues shows shortstop Jim Piersall of Boston Red Sox leading the pack.

When manager Lou Boudreau started the job of converting the 22-year-old outfielder into a shortstop at the Sarasota, Fla., rookie camp in January, they said it was strictly future stuff. Maybe 1953. But not 1952.

The kid learned so fast he elbowed Vern Stephens out of his job during spring training to open the season at short. At first glance he looks like a young Boudreau, adopting the manner-isms of his teacher to swoop low, almost touching the ground with both hands, as the pitcher delivers the ball.

Observers said Piersall agreed to switch to the infield because he figured he never would hit well enough to play the outfield regularly in the big leagues. Could be. Still, he hit .346 in a sensational season at Birmingham last season and has had no problems at the plate in the American League. Through yesterday's game with New York Yankees, he was hitting .350 and had rapped five doubles.

OTHER COMERS

The only freshman ahead of Piersall was a part-time first baseman with Pittsburgh Pirates, Tony Bartirome, who was moved from the Charleston, S.C., class A farm just before opening day. In seven times at bat, Bartirome has three hits for a juicy .429.

Toby Atwell, the catcher Chicago Cubs brought from the Brooklyn chain at Montreal, had a .353 average or about 120 points better than he did in the International League.

Piersall's second-base partner with the Red Sox, Ted Lepcio from Louisville, was hitting .333. So were Leo Thomas and Bob Nieman of St. Louis Browns and Frank Campos, Washington's latest Cuban import.

Jim Rivera, highly publicized Browns' recruit from Seattle, had a .323 average and has stolen two bases.

Double Pays $687

ALBANY, Calif., April 24 (AP)—The daily double at Golden Gate Fields paid a juicy $687 for a $2 ticket today.

Bow Wowwow, a rank outsider, won the first race of six furlongs. On $2 mutual tickets Bow Wowwow paid $222 to win, $68.30 to place and $22.30 to show.

Bound to Fly copped the second race and paid $5.80, $3.70 and $2.70.

VANCOUVER, April 24 (CP)—Jimmy Spencer, coach of North Shore of the Pacific Coast Soccer League, has been chosen B.C. Soccer All-Stars' coach for the touring team games with San Francisco and Tottenham Hotspurs.

Spencer coached the team for the games against Fulham last year.

Reaches Final

BARBARA ROMACK

Making her first bid for California State women's golf championship, Miss Romack matches strokes with Mrs. Ruth McCullah of Los Angeles in 36-hole final today. Sacramento miss advanced to final with 2 and 1 victory over Mrs. Peter Patch yesterday, while Mrs. McCullah, who won championship in 1949, defeated Mrs. Fred Apostoli on 19th.

Quarter-Finals Set Sunday In Match Play

The quarter-final round in the Vancouver Island Match Play Open golf tournament, sponsored by radio station CIVI, will be played at the Victoria Golf Club Sunday morning.

Ron McLeod, assistant pro at the Oak Bay course, who eliminated medalist Laurie Kerr last week, will meet T. A. Harris. Ted Colgate, who upset defending champion Bob Fleming, will match shots with veteran Harold Lineham.

In the other quarter-final matches in the championship flight, Bob Morrison will play John Merriman and Joe Pryke, Gorge Vale pro, will meet Don Gowan.

Draw and starting times follow:

11:00—R. McLeod vs. T. A. Harris.
11:06—R. Morrison vs. J. Merriman.
11:12—J. Pryke vs. D. Gowan.
11:18—O. E. Colgate vs. H. Lineham.
Blazier's time.

CONSOLATION FLIGHT

11:30—H. Watson vs. J. H. Ledger.
11:36—R. G. Waiang vs. S. Pellerough.
11:42—R. Odell vs. D. McCooey.
11:48—G. J. Chaster vs. J. Briggs.

New York Yankees have retired Joe DiMaggio's No. 5 uniform, Lou Gehrig's No. 4 and Babe Ruth's No. 3 are also in the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Canadian Publisher Plans to Enter New Thoroughbred in Epsom Derby

LONDON, April 24 (CP)—Now there's to be a "Canadian" horse in the greatest of all flat races, the Epsom Derby.

Max Bell, a Western Canada newspaper publisher and oil man, said today he has purchased Indian Hemp, a light chestnut [illegible] and will run him in the Derby May 28 if the weather is clear and the track fast.

Bell said he paid more than £25,000 to obtain the three-year-old son of Nasrullah from British sportsman Sir Humphrey De Trafford.

GOOD RECORD

Indian Hemp, twice a winner and second three times in seven 1951 appearances against the cream of Britain's freshman crop, is at 50 to 1 in the Derby morning line, known as the "ante-post" price.

"The colt has nice bloodlines; he ran with credit last year in top company, and I think if the going is fast on Derby day the others will know they've been in a race," said the youthful-looking Bell, publisher of The Calgary Albertan. He arrived here from Canada April 4 with the aim of picking up a couple of good horses.

Indian Hemp, which traces in Tail-Female to Pretty Polly, a rugged race mare whose name is still affectionately spoken in racing circles, thrilled railbirds last season with his smooth "action," or style of moving on the race course.

Bell purchased Indian Hemp outright, but has promised Sir Humphrey a half-share in the colt's earnings in Britain.

Present plans are to race here this year and ship the colt to North America in the fall.

Ownership then will be vested in a partnership comprising Bell, jockey Johnny Longden and two Calgary associates, Wilder Ripley and Frank McMahon. Longden was born in England and grew up around Taber, Alta.

Indian Hemp was entered in the Two Thousand Guineas, first of the flat-racing classics, and due to be run at Newmarket next Wednesday, but Bell withdrew his charge on advice of trainer Marcus Marsh. In his only race this season, Indian Hemp finished in the rock behind Agitator, red-hot favorite for the Guineas.

Indian Hemp will be the second Canadian-owned entry to perform in a major British race this year. Tantivy, owned by stockbroker Charles Burns of Toronto in partnership with Wiltshire [illegible] Tom Hogarth, ran in the Grand National Steeplechase but fell at the seventh fence.

Barring accidents or heavy going on Derby Day, Indian Hemp is almost certain to be the first horse to carry Canadian colors in the classic. Canadian-born publisher Lord Beaverbrook bred the horse Miracle, which ran third to April the Fifth in the 1932 Derby, but sold the horse as a yearling to Lord Rosebery.

Man Seeks Suspension Of Sentence

A 30-year-old man, who was one of a trio arrested by city police Wednesday night for stealing gasoline, pleaded for a suspended sentence on the grounds that his wife was going to have a baby. He pleaded guilty to the charge in city police court yesterday.

Achille S. Genist, 732 Kings, told Magistrate H. C. Hall there was no one to look after his wife. He was arrested with James Rummey, 28, 740 Kings, and Charles Bromley, 28, 554 Yates.

All three admitted stealing gasoline from a Central Cartage Company Limited truck at 640 Montreal.

Magistrate Hall remanded all three men to today for sentence.

Gentlemen were permitted to smoke in church in 17th century England.

Eat alone —and love it!

Make a weiners meal a banquet with a can of Libby's Deep-Browned Beans. These plump, protein-rich beans are cooked to appetizing goldenness by Libby's extra-slow brown-and process. Smothered in a tangy tomato sauce with the added richness of a piece of pure pork. Just the thing for lunch by yourself or a late snack at home. Simple, hearty and tasty—even a bachelor can do it.

Britain Gets Sudan Thanks

KHARTOUM, April 24 (Reuters) — Sudan parliament Wednesday thanked Britain for its new draft constitution, but asked for an amendment allowing the Sudan to determine for itself whether to be independent or linked either with Britain or Egypt.

The draft constitution provides for a large measure of self-government.

Egypt seeks sovereignty over the territory of which she and Britain have nominally been joint rulers for more than 50 years. Britain is committed to lead the Sudanese to self-government.

Coal, Metals Specialist Dies

MOSCOW, April 24 (AP) — The death of Nicolai Chizhevsky, 80, a specialist in the chemistry of coal and metals, was reported today.

He designed Russia's coke oven system and his researchers helped expand raw material resources for the metallurgical industries.

Decision on Schools Brings Korea Trouble

TOKYO, April 24 (Reuters)—Twenty Koreans were arrested today after nine policemen were injured in country-wide demonstrations against the government's decision to close Korean schools, police reported. The move resulted from Communist demonstrations.

Cunning Medical Weapon

Some Cancers Induced To Poison Themselves

Cancer in some cases can be induced to kill itself by poisoning.

One of the most cunning methods of fighting the disease was outlined recently in a Canadian Cancer Society newsletter.

Eight years ago, a patient suffering from cancer of the thyroid became the first person to be treated for that condition with radioactive iodine.

The results were spectacular. The cancer disappeared, and the patient is alive today and apparently in good health.

Other early results from the use of radioactive isotopes were similarly promising, but later use of this therapy, although fairly effective, did not live up to first indications.

CHALLENGE

However, to medical researchers, such a situation represents not failure, but a challenge.

One of the Canadians who has accepted this challenge most effectively is Dr. John P. Gemmell of Winnipeg, who belongs to one of the first groups in Canada to use radioactive isotopes clinically, under a research grant from the National Cancer Institute of Canada.

Dr. Gemmell's research is concentrated on the very factors which cause partial failure in radioactive treatment of cancer of the thyroid.

It has been learned, for example, that only about one in five of all cancers of the thyroid will absorb radioactive iodine.

Whenever this favorable "placement" does take place, the radioactive material can burn out the malignancy.

The radioactive material is not effective, however, if it not absorbed selectively by the cancerous cells.

Research scientists have in some cases been able to force the cancer to take over the duties of the thyroid gland and absorb the substance of their self-destruction.

OUT OF ACTION

This is done by putting the thyroid out of commission, either by surgery or by radiation, whereupon the cancer cells take up the functions of the gland, one of which is to absorb iodine.

If the iodine is radioactive, it is possible to attack the malignant cells by radiation, burning them out.

This is one of at least 70 research projects being financed by the cancer institute.

It is one reason why there is a Conquer Cancer Campaign going on in Victoria at the present time.

Another of the more spectacular research projects under way at present is the use of fluorescence for the detection of cancer causing substances in tissues.

This project, also under sponsorship of the National Cancer Institute, is being conducted by Dr. Cyril Reid, associate professor of chemistry at U.B.C.

Earl Escort Of Princess

LONDON, April 24 (CP)—The Earl of Dalkeith squired Princess Margaret on a jeep ride Wednesday night, accompanied by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The earl, who a few months ago was mentioned as a leading suitor of the Princess, steered a course through the hills in the west of England.

The thickness of a whale's skin varies from two inches to two feet.

Chimp Liked Taste of Freedom

Policemen and zoo attendants close in on Dick, a 90-pound chimpanzee who escaped from his cage in a Los Angeles zoo and terrorized zoo visitors for three hours before he was caught on a golf course, shown above. The surly simian knocked down three men, dented two cars with his fists and bit a policeman during his brief hours of freedom. Dick finally submitted to being led to his cage after attendants cornered him and calmed him with a soft drink—spiked with a strong sedative.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Mainguy Here To Attend Graduation

Graduation exercises today at the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, will be attended by the Royal Canadian Navy's top staff officer.

Vice Admiral E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., C.D., chief of the naval staff, arrived here last night for his first visit to the R.C.N.'s Pacific Command since he assumed his post.

He was met at Patricia Bay airport by Rear Admiral W. B. Creery, C.B.E., C.D., Flag Officer Pacific Coast.

Vice Admiral Mainguy will inspect ships and establishments in this area during a week-long visit.

Civil Defense Instructors Start Course

Third school for instructors in civil defense was officially opened by Mayor Claude Harrison at the Civil Defense Headquarters in the Market Building on Cormorant Street Wednesday night.

In the absence of Leonard Hatcher, co-ordinator for the Victoria area, who is attending a welfare study forum in Ottawa, P. L. Sampson, chief instructor, introduced the mayor, who declared the school open.

Other speaker were Major Cathcart Bruce, chief provincial training officer, and Capt. Eustace A. Brock, who addressed the class on the civil defense organization.

Those attending the meeting were W. J. Bassett, W. H. Ward, A. G. Hamill, Miss W. Harrison, T. A. Cresswell, A. D. Ross, Mrs. G. B. Dopson, F. E. Marshall, C. H. Banks, H. C. Philbrook, E. D. F. Durrant, T. Hook, K. A. Thompson, H. H. M. Oliver, F. Marshall, M. C. Walls, A. Lumley, W. Jorgenson, Mrs. Laura Ward, H. Harris, Mrs. K. R. Wilkinson, Mrs. B. R. Grant and Mrs. W. T. Macdonald-Miller.

Wrong Guesses On Postage Cause Concern

There is too much guesswork and not enough weighing done on air mail letters going out of Victoria, according to post office authorities.

An increase in the number of air letters which are not being properly prepaid "has reached disturbing proportions," the postmaster said yesterday.

Result of bad guesswork on stamps on these letters is that the person receiving the letter often must pay quite a large amount to receive delivery of the letter.

There are facilities for weighing letters in every post office, the postmaster pointed out, and advice as to the correct amount of postage on letters is available from post office employees.

MALE MAJORITY

The only one of Canada's 10 largest cities which has more males than females, is Windsor, Ont.—by a slight majority.

Groups Termed Red Raise Protest Storm

A storm of protest is raging around head of Ald. Brent Murdoch following a speech he gave to a parent-teacher group recently in which he said eight groups active in Victoria were Communist-run.

The Labor Progressive Party, one of the groups named by Alderman Murdoch, asserted that he was attempting to "resurrect the proverbial red herring" by his charges of Communist activity in the city.

In his speech Alderman Murdoch said the Communists were not fooling when they said they were battling for a control of youth, and further asserted that at least two youth organizations, the National Federation of Labor Youth and the Ukrainian Youth Committee, are Communist-controlled.

Taking issue with the alderman's statements, the Labor Youth group said:

"The National Federation of Labor Youth is an independent organization which strives to make Canada a better place to live in, and we feel that the desires and aspirations of Canadian youth can only be realized in a socialist Canada."

Two other organizations named by Alderman Murdoch, the Victoria Peace Council and the Workers' Benevolent Association, also retaliated.

"We of the Peace Council wish to assure Mr. Murdoch that our membership consists of men and women of diverse political and religious points of view, whose sincere desire to maintain peace and avoid the horrors of a third world war has brought them together in peace councils," one statement read.

WORK EXPLAINED

The advisory branch of the Workers' Benevolent Association answered with an explanation of its work.

"The society is a mutual insurance society with headquarters in Winnipeg and more than 163 branches throughout the country, covering more than 11,000 members. Our organization has a charter from the federal government under the Insurance Act, and has its books inspected by government officials. We are also registered with the superintendent of insurance in British Columbia."

In answer to these explanations, Alderman Murdoch last night issued a statement.

"The Labor Progressive Party," he said, "is recognized as the Communist party of Canada and one of the objects as outlined on pages 118 and 119 of the pamphlet 'What the Communist Party Stands For' reads:

"'We will rise in revolution, crush the capitalist state, establish a soviet state; abolish the cruel and bloody system of capitalism and proceed to the uplifting of socialism.'

"As far as I am concerned, I contend that the groups I have mentioned as being either Communist, or influenced by Communists, are not working in the better interests of Canada, and the sooner the people in these organizations realize they are being used as a front for the Communist party of Canada, the better," he said.

Plane Fire Out in Two Minutes

In two minutes R.C.A.F. firefighters extinguished the flames of an aircraft soaked in gasoline and lighted for the purpose of testing a new fire extinguishing compound. The compound, pressurized baking soda, is the best yet tested by the R.C.A.F. and is expected to save lives when seconds count in extricating airmen from their burning craft.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Ukrainians Complain

The youth section of the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians said in a statement yesterday that it "feels it is too bad that Ald. Brent Murdoch uses his position to spread discord among Canada's national groups instead of promoting unity and friendship.

"We are a cultural group of young Canadians of Slavic descent, who are trying to preserve the rich culture of our fathers' homeland, as a part of the heritage of our native country.

"We are not a political group, and are open to all Canadians of Slavic origin regardless of creed or political belief.

"We invite Alderman Murdoch and the people of Victoria to attend any of our concerts or folk festivals and see our program for themselves."

Final Parade In Vancouver

Final parade and smoker for members of "F" Company of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) will be held in Vancouver with members of the Vancouver Seaforths at 8.30 p.m. next in the Seaforth Armory.

Members of "F" Company will be leaving about two weeks after the smoker for Aldershot, N.S., where they will train with the Second Highland Battalion now being formed to rotate with the First Highland Battalion now in Germany.

Major S. E. Park, of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) at the Bay Street Armory in Victoria, will present "F" Company with a regimental pennant at the Vancouver smoker on behalf of Lieut.-Col. W. J. Mosdale, commanding officer of the reserve unit, and the officers and men.

War Declared On Rumors

BUENOS AIRES, April 24 (AP).—President Juan Peron says he is going to gather up rumor mongers in Argentina "in groups of 200 and send them to build roads in Patagonia so they can work at something useful."

He charged that "foreigners" are maintaining a system of paid rumor mongers to create a climate of revolution and bring about his downfall.

Vacation Days Put to Use At Esquimalt

BY SHIRLEY HALLMARK
Esquimalt High School

Many Esquimalt High students did not take full advantage of their Easter holidays. Two students, Kitty Dixon and Sylvia Bavin, who were chosen to tour England with the famous Elgar Choir, this summer, spent the holidays practising in Vancouver in preparation for their visit.

Esquihian annual staff members have been busy too during the brief vacation doing their best work before the oncoming deadline. Canvassers are completing their job which was highly successful as the proposed objective was well passed. Class clubs, activities and sports proof pictures were well received, the new method of arrangement produced some of the best results ever.

Good weather draws many to the outdoors as softball, volleyball, baseball and track, draw participants during noon hour and in P.E. periods. Track dominates the events as students train in after-school workouts.

A few of the enthusiasts can even be seen before school and after dinner circling the track. At the annual inter-high track meet, Esquimalt hopes to offer some strong competition in the form of many promising entries.

Harold Shergold, winner of the junior mile last year; Jerry Harris, Dennis Gordon, Bill Dobbie, Ron Smith, Ralph Bennett and Jim Ord are a few of the probable boys that will represent E.H.S.

Tourist Traffic Up 26 Per Cent

Tourist traffic into British Columbia was up 26 per cent in March over the corresponding month of 1951.

This was reported by Trade and Industry Minister Douglas Turnbull today in announcing 12,484 foreign vehicles came into the province on travelers' permits during the 31-day period.

Mr. Turnbull estimated the increase in the number of automobiles would mean an increase of 8,000 to 10,000 persons who crossed the border.

Tuberculosis has been found in 57 different parts of bovine animals.

Timetable Changes Planned by C.N.R.

A number of changes in arrival and departure times of Canadian National Railways trans-continental passenger trains to and from Vancouver will become effective Sunday.

Austin L. Curtis, Victoria general agent for the passenger department, suggests that travelers check with C.N.R. offices.

All trains will continue to operate on standard time.

Schedule times for all trains, however, will be advanced, with the exception of No. 1 from Montreal, arriving at Vancouver at 8.45 a.m.

No. 3 train from Toronto and intermediate points will arrive at Vancouver at 7.25 a.m. 20 minutes earlier than formerly.

Both eastbound trains from Vancouver will be moved forward 10 minutes with No. 2 for Montreal and way points leaving at 7.20 a.m., and No. 4 train, for Toronto and way points, leaving at 7.50 p.m.

Odd Fellows Schedule Meeting Saturday

Columbia Lodge No. 2, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will hold a special meeting Saturday evening when the second and third degrees of the order will be conferred on candidates.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

The animal scouts, who belonged to the patrol of Buster Longears, were waiting near the new second raft on the shore of Mud Puddle Lake.

"I wonder," bleated Billie Wagtail the goat scout, "what kind of sail Buster will bring back."

"Oh, it will be a good sail," barked Jackie Bow Wow. "Buster knows how to make a good sail for our raft."

"But even if he brings one of Nurse Jane's bed sheets for a sail, we will still have to get a pole for a mast," said Billie. "That will take a long time."

"Oh, we can do it," chattered Johnnie Bushytail, a squirrel scout. "I can climb up the mast and make the sail fast to it."

"Well, I hope we soon get started," quacked Jimmie Wibblewobble, a duck scout. "We'll never catch whoever took our first raft if we don't start sailing soon. It will be dark if Buster takes too long getting that sail."

"Here comes Buster now," bleated Billie the goat.

"And would you look at what he has for a sail," barked Peetie Bow Wow. "Look."

"It's only Uncle Wiggily's umbrella," said Sammie Littletail.

"Well, Scouts, here I am back with the sail," shouted Buster as he hopped toward the raft with his chums.

"Where's the sail?" asked Billie the goat.

"Here is daddy's big umbrella. That will be the sail," Buster answered.

"How can an umbrella be a sail?" asked Sammie Littletail the rabbit cousin of Buster.

"It is very easy to make a raft sail from an umbrella," said Buster. "All I have to do is to stand in the middle of the raft and hold on the open umbrella. The wind will blow on the umbrella, just like on a sail, and we will go fast."

"But we can't steer the raft as we could when we had the pole or the paddle," barked Peetie Bow Wow.

"We can use a board at the back end of the raft for a rudder," said Buster. "We can take turns holding the umbrella and using the board rudder. Holding the umbrella up into the wind isn't going to be easy, for the wind is now blowing hard. None of us can hold the umbrella very long at a time. So we'll take turns."

"All right. We'll see how it works," said Peetie Bow Wow. "But I don't believe that umbrella sail will be big enough to move our raft out on Mud Puddle Lake beyond Fish Hook Point."

"I'll soon show you!" exclaimed Buster. "Come on, fellows! Push the raft into the water, Billie Wagtail, you get a board for a rudder and we'll start."

"O.K. Captain Buster," bleated the goat scout.

The raft was shoved into the water. Buster opened Uncle Wiggily's umbrella and hopped to the middle of the raft. The wind puffed and blew and slowly the raft began sailing across Mud Puddle Lake.

"Here we go!" shouted Buster. "Keep watch now, everyone, for sight of our other raft when we get beyond Fish Hook Point!"

So Buster and his scouts went sailing. All this time Uncle Wiggily was also sailing. He had his outspread coat for a sail. And now let us see what is happening to the rabbit gentleman with the pink, twinkling nose.

For a time all went well. Sir Longears was having fun sailing Buster's first raft. On and on he went, far out beyond Fish Hook Point. Then suddenly, the wind began to blow so hard that it blew Uncle Wiggily's coat right off his back. It also blew the rabbit into Mud Puddle Lake.

"Oh, dear me from suz dud and a pocket full of gum drops!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I am in danger!" Then he saw that the raft was being blown toward some sharp rocks. "Help! Help!" shouted the funny uncle. "Help me! Rescue me from the rocks!"

"We will rescue you!" came a shout across the water. Uncle Wiggily looked and saw paddling toward him in a bark canoe, Toodle and Woodie Flat Tail, the beaver boys.

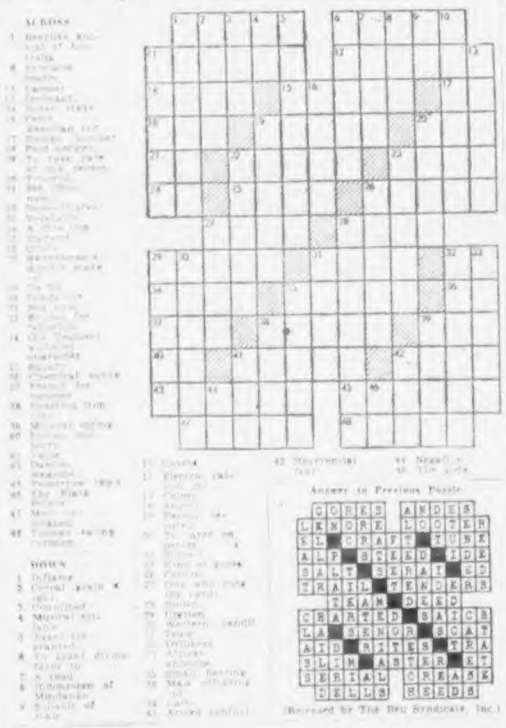

I will tell you more tomorrow, if the can opener doesn't take the latex from the rag doll's rubber heads to make a tennis net for the golf ball.

"Push the raft into the water."

BY RITA DEL MAR

For FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1952

Today's quotation: "Love, friendship and smiles are like currency. If they are hoarded, no one gets the benefit of them; if they are kept in constant circulation everyone benefits, and again, like money they always accumulate something for the transaction."—Nellie Revell.

Friday for everyone. Complete tasks, solve problems, promote private interests, be secretive. Pursue duties and obligations conscientiously, but avoid a tendency to confusion, misunderstandings or involvements.

Look for your birthmate and birthsign below.

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Be careful to exert personality, logic, reason. Sidestep unpleasantness with others.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Be calm in tackling chores or in the business world. Solve problems; seek tidings; save.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Express your views to those you are fond of. Avoid tension, extravagance. Don't lose, mislay things.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Your efforts are being noticed. Improve standing and seek headway, but don't fool yourself or others.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo)—Be alert; listen to what those about you say, but discount hearsay or gossip.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Strengthen financial standing. Be ready to meet others half way; sidestep waste.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—Be systematic. Organize efforts efficiently. Allow time for things to work out.

October 23 to November 21 (Scorpio)—Adopt ideas, methods which increase the worth of your service. Don't waste time, efforts.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Make concessions; avert negative relations with acquaintances, dear ones. Be economical.

December 22 to January 19 (Capricorn)—Wind up a matter. Take care of responsibilities. Be thrifty.

January 20 to February 18 (Aquarius)—Strengthen agreements with others; gain more friendly relations. Avoid worry, misunderstandings.

February 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Make necessary financial revisions, but be sure of their practicality. Eliminate wasteful angles.

Planning ahead—Good for entertaining, sociability, etc.: April 26, 27, 28, May 2, 3, 4, 5, 11, 12.

Women Ready for Emergency

There are 200 women in B.C. ready to trade vacuum cleaners and skillets for stretchers and splints at a moment's notice to aid sick or injured fellow citizens.

They are members of St. John Ambulance Brigade's nursing division, and their voluntary work ranges from rolling bandages to driving ambulances.

The division women have become a familiar sight at large public gatherings since the first group was formed during the First World War.

A group of women, all under 30 years old, form a special mobile unit in Vancouver and are being trained to drive ambulances and carry stretchers.

These women also learn how to handle firearms, and must learn traffic regulations and the mechanics of their ambulances.

To continue the work of such groups, and also to maintain and strengthen the first aid posts on B.C. highways, St. John Ambulance is campaigning in B.C. for $100,000 in the first public appeal for funds since 1949.

Contributions should be sent to 518 West Hastings, Vancouver. Receipts will be issued.

Two Sisters Fined $50 Each On Charges of Theft From Store

Two women were fined $50 each by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court yesterday, for shoplifting.

June Lee, 19, of 1619 Government, had pleaded guilty earlier to stealing clothing and silverware valued at more than $25 from the Hudson's Bay Co. store.

Her sister, Mabel Yee, 35, also of 1619 Government, pleaded guilty to stealing clothing valued at less than $25, at the same time.

Magistrate Hall said that as a result of a probation report he thought a fine would be sufficient.

"Apart from this incident, I have ascertained, you are of good character," he told the accused women.

Andrew J. McAuley, 1745 Lillian, was fined $25 for violating a learner's license by not having an adult holder of a current driver's license in the car with him. He was fined an additional $5 for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Walter C. Gage-Cole, 1523 Edgeware Road, was fined $50 on a charge of careless driving and report made to the motor vehicle branch.

Fines totaling $85 were imposed against Ronald A. Gladeau, Gordon Head Army Camp, when he pleaded guilty to failing to remain at the scene of an accident, driving without a current driver's license and careless driving.

Michael M. Phillips, 2554 Penrhyn, was convicted on a charge of careless driving and fined $40. Magistrate Hall also said he would recommend a license suspension.

It isn't pleasant to think back on your most painful bridge lickings, but if you'll reflect on them you are apt to discover that they took place when you or your partner were too optimistic about a hand that proved to be a misfit—or too stubborn to quit. All too often with a hand like the one shown here the North player will rebid two no-trump because he has a flock of the opponent's suit and his hand doesn't fit either one of his partner's suits. But it's a mighty difficult thing to win nine tricks—no matter how well you can stop the opponents' suit—unless you are able to develop a suit of your own. North has bid the limit of his hand when he says two clubs; after South shows his second suit, North should do nothing more than show preference for spades, and South should quit.

South makes his contract against a diamond lead by coming to the ace of hearts, trumping a heart in dummy, ruffing a diamond back to his hand, trumping a third heart in North, and leading a club, establishing the club king before West can get too many discards.

North-South par: Make a plus score.

More Aid Planned For Amputees

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP)—The veterans' department will give more financial aid to Canada's war amputees to help take care of wear and tear on their clothes from the wearing of artificial limbs.

Notice was given on Commons' order paper Wednesday of a bill to increase the allowance. Amputees who lost all or part of a leg now get $54 a year for this purpose. It will be increased to $72.

Men who lost an arm or part of it will be raised to $30 from $22.

The increases are in line with increases in the basic pension rates introduced late last year.

ANCIENT COMPLIMENT

The custom of throwing shoes at a wedding originated in ancient times when shoes were worn only by wealthy classes.
